Would you like to car share, but you're not sure who lives near you, or whose route to work passes close to you?

Car sharing with a colleague can be a great way of cutting your travel costs. It can also help make the journey to work more sociable and less stressful.

We want to help anyone who is interested in car sharing find a potential car share partner.

1. Write your details on the sign up sheet next to this map.
2. Choose a sticker:
   - offer a lift
   - like a lift
   - happy to do either

   and write on the sticker your ID number from the sign up sheet (eg. 1).
3. Add your sticker to the map, near to where you start your journey to work. If where you live is not on the map, then place your sticker in the border and complete the sign up sheet as above.
4. Check the map to see if anyone else is going your way (you may need to come back later).
5. If you think you've found a suitable partner use their contact details on the sign up sheet. You can also swap completed My Profile forms to check that you're a good match.
6. Read our top tips on making car sharing work for you.

Base map data © OpenStreetMap contributors
Cartography by Steer Davies Gleave 2017