WORTEN SEALS UNIQUE PARTNERSHIP WITH GALP ENERGIA

June marks the beginning of a new partnership between Worten and Galp Energia, with more than 50 'Tangerina' stores offering various consumer electronics items.

In order to get electronic and technology solutions to more and more people, Worten has decided to expand its presence outside is own physical stores and online, getting closer to its customers even when they are in the traffic. From this month onwards, 56 'Tangerina' stores at Galp filling stations are going to have selections of electronic items.

In this kick-off stage, the selected items include small domestic appliances, personal care and hi-fi, but Worten is going to adapt this range of items depending on the different seasons to meet customers' needs.

"Galp Energia has been enriching what it sells in its 'Tangerine' stores and intends to provide products and services that go beyond selling fuel to ensure customers' needs are satisfied. We believe that this partnership with Worten, apart from following market trends from a supply dynamics point of view, clearly helps us stand out", said João Filipe Torneiro, Iberia Oil Marketing Director at Galp Energia.

Another important and unique aspect of this partnership has to do with the fact that the items in the 'Tangerina' stores can count on technical assistance from the Worten Resolve spaces. "We want customers to feel safe in their choice, so we guarantee, just as we do in our own stores, high-quality technical assistance and confidence in the items bought in the Galp filling station stores that join this partnership", said Worten Development Director, Nuno Vital.
