

Waiver of AVC Spousal Survivor Benefits

IMPORTANT: Read this information page before signing the Waiver of AVC Spousal Survivor Benefits form.

Terms shown in bold italic type are defined at the end of this document. Where this document uses you or your, it assumes you are a member of the OMERS Primary Pension Plan ("OMERS Plan" or "Plan") and you participate in the Additional Voluntary Contributions (AVC) provision.

The Waiver of AVC Spousal Survivor Benefits form does not apply to the defined benefit provision of the OMERS Plan. Instead, use OMERS Form 150, Form 151a or Form 151b, as applicable to your situation.

For information about making a claim for survivor benefits, the calculation and/or timing of a payment, or other questions, visit www.omers.com or contact OMERS Member Services.

Introduction

If an OMERS Plan member dies and that member is participating in the AVC provision of the OMERS Plan, a refund of the member's AVC account balance may be payable to one or more people or to the member's estate according to the order of entitlement set out in the AVC provision of the OMERS Plan.

What is the "order of entitlement" for the AVC provision of the OMERS Plan?

The OMERS Plan defines an order of entitlement so that a refund of a member's AVC account balance is paid in the following order of priority:

1. To the person who qualifies as the member's eligible spouse on the member's date of death.
2. To the member's living designated beneficiary(ies).
3. To the member's estate.

If I die and my spouse has not signed a waiver, what benefits are payable to my spouse under the AVC provision of the OMERS Plan?

If the Waiver of AVC Spousal Survivor Benefits form has not been signed before your death, your eligible spouse will automatically receive a refund of your AVC account balance.

Who signs the waiver and what does it mean to sign the waiver?

Your eligible spouse may waive all rights to receive a refund of your AVC account balance by submitting a Waiver of AVC Spousal Survivor Benefits form to OMERS. This form requires only your spouse to sign it, and it must be witnessed. Your beneficiary(ies) and estate may not waive survivor benefits.

If a valid waiver form is submitted to OMERS, the next person(s) in the order of entitlement may become eligible for a refund of your AVC account balance.

If my spouse submits a Waiver of AVC Spousal Survivor Benefits form, who is next in line for survivor benefits?

1. Your living designated beneficiary(ies).
2. Your estate.

Can a waiver be cancelled?

Your spouse can cancel the waiver by delivering a written and signed notice to OMERS at any time before your death.

What if I name my spouse on my beneficiary designation form and my spouse has signed a Waiver of AVC Spousal Survivor Benefits form?

A Waiver of AVC Spousal Survivor Benefits form waives the right for your eligible spouse to receive a refund of your AVC account balance, but it does not apply to benefits payable to a beneficiary. So, if your spouse is also named on your beneficiary designation form, your spouse may still receive a refund of your AVC account balance. If you want to change your beneficiary designation, use OMERS Form 206 - Beneficiary Information, available at www.omers.com.

► Definitions

Eligible spouse

For the AVC provision of the OMERS Plan, an eligible spouse is the person who was the member's legal spouse or common-law spouse immediately before the date of the member's death.

Legal spouse

OMERS considers a legal spouse to be a person who is legally married to the member.

Common-law spouse

OMERS considers a common-law spouse to be a person who is not married to the member but is living together in a conjugal relationship;

- continuously, for a period of not less than three years; or
- in a relationship of some permanence, if they are the parents of a child as set out in section 4 of the Children's Law Reform Act

Living separate and apart

Whether two persons are living separate and apart is often complicated to assess. It is a question of both fact and law and must be determined on a case-by-case basis. The determination may require the assistance of a lawyer. In general, physical separation is usually, but not always, an indication that two persons are living separate and apart. However, physical separation is not always conclusive. There must also be a mutual or a unilateral intention for two persons to live separate and apart and end the marriage or common-law relationship. For example, a physical separation between two spouses caused by one of them living in a nursing home will not necessarily result in a determination that the spouses are living separate and apart, provided that both spouses intended the marriage or common-law relationship to continue despite the physical barrier.
