GENERAL MEETING & SPEAKER SERIES

Nov 21, 2016 - 1pm

Eating Closer to Home with Dan Oostenbrink

On November 21, 2016 the Bowen Island Garden Club welcomes Dan Oostenbrink, a market gardener at The Local Harvest in Chilliwack, where he gardens with his wife and children. The Local Harvest is a progressive initiative whose mission is “to grow and produce quality food, educate the public on the importance of local food systems and promote the development of agriculture and food production.”

In this presentation you will learn to grow more food on less land without an aching back and successfully feed yourself every day of the year—yes, even during the bleakest winter months. You will gain a better understanding of the basic principles of vegetable gardening that will help you grow organic food in abundance. And with the first seeds going into the ground in February, it's not too early to begin planning you garden. Dan will also talk about his efforts to create food secure communities and how this vision can be realized through education and the combined efforts of home gardeners, larger scale food producers, restaurants, value added enterprises and other stakeholders in the food landscape.

Please join us for this thought provoking presentation at The Gallery at Artisan Square on November 21, 2016 at 1 PM. Everyone is welcome. Members no charge, guests only $3.00.

Linda Barratt, Speaker Series

PRESIDENT'S RAMBLINGS

We are saying good-bye to a dear friend. Sharon Haggerty, our president, passed away October 11th from complications following surgery.

Sharon had a long association with Bowen Island with a Haggerty family home on Snug point, overlooking Deep Bay. She was deeply involved in the community through the Snug Cove House Society, The Fibre Arts Guild, the Library, BIRD, and of course the Garden Club. In addition to all these many interests she was a dedicated genealogist making many trips to Ireland in pursuit of Haggerty ancestors going back to the 16th century.

In the world of work she was a dedicated teacher of Science. At Western University in Ontario she was in charge of the postgraduate program in the faculty of Education where she was a tireless advocate of co-operative learning. A quote from a faculty associate at Western gives a glimpse into the esteem in which she was held in her academic life. "Many years have passed but I still use Sharon's 'gold standard' to support our Faculty of Education graduate students as they move through the research process. I always tell people that I have been so lucky 'to learn from the best' here at the Faculty of Education. And, Sharon was one of the best."

She loved her 'laissez-faire' garden where miscellaneous 'volunteers' were tolerated provided they didn't disturb the irises, her pride and joy.

As a Garden Club member she took on Cuttings from Sheila Webster where she remained at her post for five years before reluctantly filling the vacant post of president; it was a place where others feared to go. Sharon's wry sense of humour, fine intelligence, and shrewd thinking took the executive through a difficult year, culminating with her gutsy decision to take over daffodil sales. We will remember her sitting steadfast at her post through two rainy days at the Little Red Church shepherding 23,000 bulbs to grateful gardeners.

Sharon will be sorely missed by her many Bowen friends. She was a wonderful person and a great contributor to the life of Bowen Island.

EDITORS NOTE

We will all miss Sharon Haggerty, and many of the members sent notes to us expressing their sympathies, regrets and suggestions as to how we could honour her.

One suggestion came from Pauline ...see her note below:

Hi Marie,

I have a suggestion for how to remember Sharon. It has to do with her irises. She had many beautiful varieties of which she was very proud and very generous in sharing. I have some of her irises in my garden. Why don't we divide some from her garden and plant them in front of the library where she was a devoted volunteer.

Soil (Dirt) Home needed for 2017

One of the many things that Sharon Haggerty did for the Garden Club and its members was order dirt (soil) and store it at her home for our potting needs (in support of the Annual May Plant Sale).

We are looking to our members ... can one of you volunteer to store approx. 2 yards of soil on your property so that members can pick up dirt to repot plants that they are donating to next May's plant sale? Ideally, this volunteer's yard would be some what centrally located (on Island) so all could benefit. We would appreciate that the soil be stored in a place that is easily accessible by members so that we do not need to disturb our host.

If you can store our dirt please contact any of the board members or email us:

bicuttings@gmail.com or call

Open Garden 2017

BIGC offers Open Garden Tours during the spring and summer months. If you have a garden that you wish to share this year or for 2017.... please contact Pam Miller. It's never too early for us to start planning!

Gardens are open to the public.
