

Cambridge Core

Highlighting changes to content on Cambridge Core in 2021

What's changed?

Products now on Cambridge Core, offering improved accessibility and features such as usage reporting

- Cambridge Law Reports, including International Law Reports (ILR) and the International Convention on the Settlement of Investments Disputes Reports (ICSID): same interface, new authentication process
- Historical Statistics of the United States (HSUS): same interface, new authentication process
- Stahl Online, as of November 4, 2021: new drug lookup feature, and with Illustrated Guides now PDFs for a better reading experience
- Orlando: A Feminist Resource for the History of Women's Writing, as of November 15, 2021, with a new user interface and new authentication process

Product changes

- Cambridge Archive Editions: no longer published by Cambridge University Press; see here for more information
- Dictionary of Irish Biography: no longer published by Cambridge University Press; now Open Access and available here
- High-Risk Pregnancy: now a static e-resource; see here for more information

New partner publishers

- Amsterdam University Press
- Bristol University Press
- See all of our partner publishers here

Title changes

- HE textbooks
 - Most e-textbooks are now on the Higher Education from Cambridge University Press website
 - For more information regarding migrated e-textbook titles, please view this blog post.
- Partner publishers
 - Liverpool University Press: 81 titles withdrawn September 1, 2021; frontlist no longer provided
 - Amsterdam University Press: 17 titles will be withdrawn January 1, 2022
- Journal updates: please see here for more information

