3. ANCILLARY BUSINESS AND ANCILLARY SERVICES

3.1. Definition of Ancillary Business

The term “ancillary business” with respect to Fitch Ratings means any business other than the provision of independent analysis and rating and other opinions regarding a variety of risks in the financial markets. Over time, Fitch Ratings has developed, and will continue to develop, new rating scales, surveillance products, research products and other analytical services; however, these new scales, products and services will always reflect Fitch Ratings’ independent risk analysis. Fitch Ratings’ rating and other opinions — for example, credit ratings, rating assessments, credit opinions, scores and other relative measures of financial or operational strength — do not comment on the suitability of any particular type of investment or the appropriate level of risk for any user of these opinions. In preparing its opinions, Fitch Ratings is indifferent to the rating or assessment levels achieved and neither suggests nor cautions against individual “target” levels of rating or assessment. Consequently, Fitch Ratings does not provide advisory or consulting services to any entity; advisory or consulting services would constitute ancillary businesses.

3.2. Examples of Fitch Ratings’ Core Business

Examples of Fitch Ratings’ “core” business include, but are not limited to, the following:

- assignment and monitoring of public and private ratings;
- issuance of opinions other than in the form of a rating — for example, credit assessments, credit opinions and scores;
- issuance of preliminary ratings, expected ratings and indicative or initial ratings;
- issuance of rating assessments which provide corporate entities the opportunity to receive an indication of what impact a certain set of events would have upon their ratings or credit assessments (e.g., an acquisition or recapitalization);
- confirmation of existing ratings, based on a proposed action or inaction;
- in the context of structured finance transactions, provision of feedback to the transaction parties with respect to rating levels based on information provided by the transaction parties and their advisors;
- model development;
- dissemination of RACs, rating reports, research reports and other publications, including, inter alia, methodologies, models, newsletters, commentaries and industry studies;

- regular verbal and written dialogue with all market participants, including, inter alia, investors, intermediaries, regulators and the media; and
- organizing and participating in conferences, speaking engagements and educational seminars.

3.3. EU CRA Regulation Requirements and UK CRA Regulation Requirements Regarding Ancillary Services

Any ancillary business, as defined in Section 3.1, conducted within the Fitch Group is provided by separate companies outside Fitch Ratings or by separate divisions, all of which are subject to Fitch Group's Firewall Policy – Segregation of Credit Rating Activities and therefore do not present any conflicts of interest for Fitch Ratings.

- If a separate division of an EU CRA or of an EU Endorsed CRA provides any services to a Rated Entity, or to any Related Third Party of such Rated Entity, that are within the definition of “ancillary services” as determined pursuant to the EU CRA Regulation, then that EU CRA or EU Endorsed CRA, as the case may be, will disclose such “ancillary services” in the relevant RAC for such Rated Entity.
- If a separate division of a UK CRA or of an UK Endorsed CRA provides any services to a Rated Entity, or to any Related Third Party of such Rated Entity, that are within the definition of “ancillary services” as determined pursuant to the UK CRA Regulation, then that UK CRA or UK Endorsed CRA, as the case may be, will disclose such “ancillary services” in the relevant RAC for such Rated Entity.

The relevant BRM staff of the EU CRA, EU Endorsed CRA, UK CRA or UK Endorsed CRA, where the primary analyst is based, will be responsible for ensuring such disclosures are made by providing the necessary disclosure language to the relevant analytical staff for inclusion in the relevant RAC.
