

VINCENT MILTON

Managing Director

Vincent Milton worked as a senior director in Fitch Ratings' financial institutions group for over 10 years. He started as a bank analyst for Fitch in Australia in 1997 as well as in the London head office in 2000 before setting up Fitch's Thai office in 2001, and has since built Fitch as a leading agency covering the major local and foreign corporations and financial institutions in Thailand. Vincent now oversees business development and operations in Thailand.

Vincent has completed bachelor degrees in law majoring in economics from the University of New South Wales, graduate diploma in business law from Thammasat University, and masters of science in finance from Chulalongkorn University.