1. INTRODUCTION

1.1 CONTENT AND PURPOSE OF THE POLICY

This policy describes the governance of MFEX Mutual Funds Exchange AB (“MFEX” or “the Company”), including an overview of the relevant governance matters at group level, and in particular sets out its legal and corporate structure, a detailed overview of its governance bodies (Board and management level), risk and internal control framework, its business organisation and corporate values.

The Company, being a regulated investment firm, must ensure compliance with governance requirements on a solo basis. Although the group of MFEX entities (being MFEX Holding AB and all its direct and indirect subsidiaries) have been exempted of prudential and governance sub-consolidation¹ under IFR/IFD by the Swedish Financial Supervisory Authority (FSA) as they fall within the consolidation perimeter of Euroclear SA/NV under CRD V and the Belgian Banking Law, MFEX group applies sub-consolidated best governance practices on a voluntary basis. Since it acts as operational holding for the group of MFEX entities², it is MFEX Mutual Funds Exchange AB who takes a consolidated governance approach. This Policy therefore includes the consolidation principles applied by the Company on a voluntary basis.

This document to be approved by the Board of Directors aims at evidencing that the governance of the Company provides a suitable framework to ensure sound and prudent management and oversight of the Company (and its subsidiaries), bearing in mind its business, size and risk profile.

The internal governance system and its components form the basis, and set the framework, for the internal governance and control at MFEX. It is of paramount importance that the components of this system be formulated clearly and specifically in order to enable all employees of MFEX to understand the content. The employees’ insight in, and understanding of the internal governance framework is a necessity in order to achieve a satisfactory level of internal governance and control. The internal governance framework shall be effective and adapted to MFEX’s business and organization. It shall be integrated in other decision processes and contribute to achieving the business objectives. The governance framework shall be based on strategies, objectives and values decided by the Board.

¹ Prudential and governance sub-consolidation should be distinguished from accounting sub-consolidation which is still mandatory at MFEX group level

1.2 SCOPE

This policy is applicable to the Company, its branches and representation offices.

This document shall be made available on a shared common storage of the Company.

All reference to he/she and his/her should be taken gender neutral and also be interpreted as "they".

It is to be noted that it has been opted to have the group board committees set up at the level of MFEX Mutual Funds Exchange AB rather than at MFEX Holding AB level, as the first is the operational holding for the group entities and MFEX Holding is due to be merged into MFEX AB.

8. INTERNAL CONTROL FRAMEWORK

This section of the Policy describes MFEX's risk and internal control framework. Internal governance and control are of paramount importance for MFEX in order to achieve its stipulated business objectives and preserve customers, authorities and others' trust and confidence in the Company.

The internal control framework should support the following:

- An appropriate and effective organization and management of the business,
- Sufficient resources and competence
- A reliable financial reporting,
- An effective operation and management of the information system, including documentation and safekeeping,
- A good and effective capability to identify, assess, manage, report and control risks within the business,
- A good and effective capability to comply with laws, regulation, market practice and internal rules,
- sound business practices whereby all staff feel responsibility for achievement of MFEX's business objectives.

8.1 ORGANIZATION AND RESPONSIBILITY FOR INTERNAL CONTROL

8.1.1 The risk and internal control framework

The Board has put in place a risk governance framework in which roles and responsibilities for managing risk are clearly defined. The Board oversees Senior Management implementation of risk appetite through a set of diverse, approved limits that are based on risk reward analysis and are related to the strategic objectives. Senior Management and Risk Management report to the Board on the Group's current risk position by reference to a suite of financial and non-financial risk appetite measures, allowing the Board to determine what actions are needed to maintain the Group's risk profile at the desired level.

The risk strategy and frameworks guide the Board in its responsibility to devote the appropriate time and attention to risk issues, and oversee the implementation of the Group corporate strategy, in a way that preserves MFEX's reputation through risk awareness and the exercise of behaviours and values that foster a robust culture. ESG forms integral part of the risk framework.

8.1.2 Combating money laundering and terrorist financing framework

Combating money laundering and terrorist financing is essential for maintaining the stability and integrity of the financial system. Uncovering the involvement of an investment firm in money laundering and terrorist financing might have an impact on its viability and on trust in the financial system. In this context, the guidelines clarify that identifying, managing and mitigating money laundering and financing of terrorism risks is part of sound internal governance arrangements and investment firms' risk management framework. The company have therefore implement appropriate processes and procedures to ensure that MFEX comply with their obligations in the context of combating money laundering and terrorist financing.

Employees and more particularly those in charge of the business relationship are the essential actors of the internal AML/CFT system, whose effectiveness is based on compliance with due diligence obligations from the moment of entry into a relationship with the Client as well as throughout the relationship with the client. Their role, like those of other MFEX employees is essential in raising doubts or alerts relating to the fight against money laundering and the financing of terrorism. The business manager is the privileged contact of the prospect or Customer, he is responsible for the business relationship.

The Global AML Manager is responsible for the implementation of the internal AML/CFT rules within the MFEX Group and is responsible for the AML operational team which carries out all due diligence relating to customer knowledge ("KYC") and monitors the business relationship. Its main mission is to implement the AML/CFT system and ensure that measures are in place in the first line of defence to mitigate AML/CFT risks.

8.2 THREE LINES OF DEFENCE

In line with best market practice, the three lines of defence model within MFEX facilitates effective operations. Each line plays a distinct role providing senior management and the Board with confidence that MFEX is likely to achieve its key goals through the effective management of risks. In order to establish an effective internal governance and control MFEX shall secure that the business subject to authorization is conducted in accordance with the so called “three lines of defense” principle.

The following principles apply in respect of each of the Control Functions:

- The staff of the control function does not perform any operational tasks for, and are organizationally separate from, the activities they monitor and control;
- None of the control functions may be combined with any other;
- Compliance and Risk functions are subject to separate independent review by Internal Audit;
- Remuneration of staff within each of the control functions, including the relevant Head of the control Function, is not linked to the performance of the activities the function oversees;
- These functions have the necessary authority, resources expertise and access to all relevant information to perform their mission.

8.2.1 First line of defense - the responsibilities of Employees

The first line of defense consists of the employees at MFEX. It therefore consists of the business area that performs the daily operations. The same applies if operational risks are identified in the daily business, in these cases reporting shall be conducted to the Risk Function.

Line management ensures that the right risk culture is embedded in the different business units. It owns the risks linked to the activities it undertakes to reach its business objectives. The business lines must identify, measure, control and manage these risks, and define and operate a control system to ensure MFEX reaches its business objectives within its risk appetite. MFEX defined a risk strategy covering its approach to risk management and its risk appetite. When taking into account all risks, MFEX should take into account all relevant risk factors, including environmental, social and governance risks factors and consider that the latter may drive the Company's prudential risks. Such ESG risk factors include, e.g. legal risks in the area of contractual or labor law, risks relating to potential human rights violations or other ESG risk factors that may affect the country where a service provider is located and its ability to provide the agreed service levels.

The risk strategy for MFEX is developed in:
