

Docusign Identify

The missing piece in your agreement workflow for straightforward identity verification that you can trust.

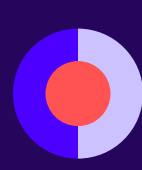

1

Verify recipient identity

Enable your users to easily identify themselves at any point in your agreement workflow based on what they know, who they are (i.e. biometrics), and what they own (i.e. photo ID).

2

Capture and store identity information

Securely capture and store the identity information provided by recipients for future auditing and compliance purposes. A dedicated FINTRAC* workflow supports compliance efforts with this regulation.

3

Re-authenticate

Automatically verify the information provided by users, ensuring it's valid and accurate. Securely capture and store the information for future auditing purposes.

4

Sign

Instantly (re)authenticate known users by confirming they are who they claim to be through low-friction methods such as Phone Authentication and a digital Identity Wallet. Sign with electronic and digital signatures.

Regardless of who you're interacting with, Docusign Identify's modular architecture protects your businesses from identity fraud, keeping your digital interactions secure and trusted while helping you comply at any stage of your agreement process—with no impact on the user experience.
