

Save on fuel costs and prevent the risk of virus spread.

As the past few months have taught us, one of the biggest potential threats to any business or organisation is out of anyone's control.

The impact of a virus and the effects of a global pandemic.

All of us, in business and the public, have to face this new potential threat.

Currently, there isn't a total safeguard solution, but there are things that can be done to mitigate risk in the workplace.

However, the high risk of spread each time we fuel our vehicles may have been missed. And this is just one more benefit to using the services of HaloGo.

Not only can we reduce your fuel costs, we can reduce the risk of infection.

How do we mitigate the risk?

Contactless Fuelling

We remove:

- » Contact with 'high-touch' service station fuel pumps
- » Touching point-of-sale PIN pads

Did you know, germs from peoples' hands can transfer 7 times before leaving the skin.
