StaffPoint

STAFFPOINT-GROUP'S CODE OF CONDUCT

The code of conduct of the StaffPoint-Group forms an integral part of how all employees of the StaffPoint companies - both white-collar and temporary workers should behave. These policies have been approved by the Staffing Team of the StaffPoint Group. We also do our best to make sure that our suppliers follow the same ethical principles as we do in our operations.

1. OUR VALUES

StaffPoint requires all partners to comply with local laws and regulations and good business principles. We determine the principles of good business practice for our subcontractors in a separate Supplier Code of Conduct. We expect our subcontractors to follow the same principles of good business practices as StaffPoint.

12. COMPETITORS AND COMPETITION

We work fairly in the market and we act with great respect towards competition and the competitors. We do not agree with competitors about pricing, market share or similar activities.

13. OPEN COMMUNICATION

StaffPoint's communications are guided by our strategy and our values. Internal communication is a part of our working community and an important management tool.

We encourage open interaction. We believe that information exchange, understanding and commitment to common goals are an important part of success.

Everyone can influence the functionality of internal communication. Our important internal communication channels are intranet, common events and meeting practices.

We follow a staggered communication model to ensure that senior management and superiors get information before staff members in order to be able to support their organization even better.

14. ENVIRONMENTAL RESPONSIBILITY

We comply with the Green Practices and Values conformable to StaffPoint Group GreenStaff's Environmental Responsibility Program. Through the program, we are responsible for energy saving, saving resources and promoting waste utilization.

15. MEASUREMENT AND MONITORING

We are actively monitoring the implementation of these common policies in our day-to-day work. Respect for the principles of conduct is a responsibility of all of us. The StaffPoint Management Team is in charge of guiding the implementation of the principles in different operating instructions and to monitor their implementation in our work community.

With an employee survey we measure the staff annually on work placement, justice, leadership, occupational safety, equality, team spirit and issues related to joint life, on which we base an annual action plan to improve these issues. We also carry out a "Fillis" survey on well-being at work quarterly. Every year, a temporary agency worker survey is used to measure the issues related to the occupational well-being of leased personnel.

If you suspect something suspicious or suspect a violation, report it immediately by email to yleiset.toimintaperiaatteet@staffpoint.fi or anonymously by letter to the HR department.
