Press Release

REVO Insurance: evolving organisational structure, Matteo Mambrin appointed Chief Underwriting Officer and Marco Vesentini Chief Market & Development Officer

The appointments reflect continuity and strategic vision, supporting upcoming REVO's phase of growth

Verona, 12 November 2026 – REVO Insurance S.p.A. strengthens its management structure with the appointment, effective today, of Matteo Mambrin as Chief Underwriting Officer (CUO) and Marco Vesentini as Chief Market & Development Officer (CMDO). The new responsibilities reflect the implementation of the "THE TECHUMAN Era" Industrial Plan and accompany the evolution of the Company's organizational model, through the enhancement of in-house underwriting expertise and the development of an increasingly integrated distribution model, capable of combining traditional and alternative channels within an omnichannel approach.

Head of Underwriting at REVO since 2021, Mambrin has contributed to the creation and development of the Company's underwriting model since its earliest stages. His appointment confirms continuity in the leadership of the Underwriting function and extends his responsibilities to include Pricing and Reinsurance, strengthening oversight of three key areas of REVO's business model: his in-depth knowledge of the Company's lines of business and portfolio represents a valuable asset in supporting its growth while preserving underwriting quality and technical balance.

Vesentini, previously Chief of Staff to the CEO and Head of Corporate Development, takes on the role of Chief Market & Development Officer, with responsibility for all distribution channels and the Group's development programmes. The new division will encompass Market Management, Marketing & Product Development, Affinity, Alternative Channels and Parametric, with the aim of ensuring the closest possible alignment with distribution channels. Within the new company structure, Nicola Occhini will continue to lead Market Management, ensuring continuity in a function which, under his leadership, has progressively consolidated its expertise, relationships and market recognition. Vesentini's strategic vision and experience will contribute to bringing commercial and development activities together under a single division, enhancing the expertise and results already achieved by the individual business units.

Upon taking up their new roles, Matteo Mambrin and Marco Vesentini will join the Company's Management Committee.

«These appointments recognize the expertise and experience that REVO has built and developed over time and forming part of the implementation of our Industrial Plan, with increasingly integrated oversight of the portfolio's technical quality and the Group's development drivers. I extend my best wishes to Matteo and Marco, and to all colleagues involved in the reorganization, for success in their new roles. I am confident that their contribution, together with the expertise and commitment of the entire REVO team, will enable us to continue implementing our Industrial Plan with determination and achieve the growth objectives we have set ourselves» commented Alberto Minali, Chief Executive Officer of REVO Insurance.
