

Leaving digital footprints.

Did you know that your online activity leaves a digital trail that can't be erased?

Everything we do online – like playing games, texting, going to our favourite social media sites, sharing photos – leaves a digital footprint. A digital footprint isn't like a footprint in the sand or snow where it can be easily erased with an incoming wave or snowfall. When it comes to the internet, once it's there it's permanent.

Just like real life, in our digital world, there are things we need to know when it comes to respecting and protecting ourselves and others – it's all about keeping your digital footprint clean. Next time you're online, think about the impact your actions can have.
