Lactalis Australia recognised at DIAA Awards

Lactalis Australia has once again been recognised at the Dairy Industry Association of Australia (DIAA) Awards, a number of our products and teams acknowledged for excellence in dairy manufacturing.

These awards are an important industry benchmark, reflecting the strength of our local teams, the quality of Australian milk, and the care taken at every stage of production.

While these are local achievements, they sit within a broader global momentum highlighted in Lactalis Group's 2025 Activity Report – where innovation, product quality and strong local brands continue to drive performance across markets.

Across the Group, 2025 saw:

- Continued investment in product innovation aligned to evolving consumer needs
- Recognition for new product development, including award-winning innovations in key markets
- Strong demand for trusted, high-quality dairy brands

This same focus underpins our approach in Australia.

Our DIAA results reflect:

- The expertise of our site teams
- Consistent delivery of high-quality, trusted products
- Ongoing investment in improving recipes, processes and capability

Lactalis Australia's product quality and brand strength remain central to its performance. We produce locally for local consumers, backed by global expertise.

These awards are a recognition of the people behind our products – from our farmers and suppliers through to our manufacturing, R&D and quality teams, reinforcing our ongoing commitment to delivering dairy products Australians know and trust.
