Harry Reid International Airport Debuts Modernized Website

This week, Harry Reid International Airport (LAS) unveiled a newly designed website to better serve today's tech-savvy travelers. The redesigned site provides a new aesthetic that more closely reflects the destination, but also delivers a mobile-first experience, putting essential information right at passengers' fingertips.

The upgraded platform offers a range of user-focused improvements, including:

- Optimized Mobile Browsing
The site's responsive design automatically adapts to any screen size, making it easier for travelers to access flight information, maps, and airport services on smartphones and tablets.
- Simplified Navigation
From finding parking information to browsing dining and shopping options, the streamlined layout helps users quickly find the information they need for a more efficient airport experience.
- Accessible Features
In line with LAS's ongoing commitment to accessibility, the site offers multilingual support and is compatible with translation tools and text-to-speech software, ensuring access for all travelers.

"Air travel begins long before a passenger arrives at the terminal," said James C. Chrisley, Clark County Director of Aviation. "Our new website was built to meet travelers where they are – on their phones and devices – with tools and information that make planning their trip easier and more intuitive. By investing in this modern digital experience, LAS is helping every visitor start their journey with confidence and connection."

The new HarryReidAirport.com reflects LAS's ongoing investment in enhancing the passenger experience before they've even made it to the airport; ensuring that every interaction with Harry Reid International Airport, whether online or in person, is seamless, accessible, and distinctly Las Vegas.
