

Weekly News Roundup: November 17, 2025

THE EDITORS

DANIEL SZEHIN HO (left), executive director of CONG, and TOBIAS BERGER (right), curatorial director of Serakai Studio, Hong Kong. Courtesy Serakai Studio.

Serakai Studio, the cultural think tank and R&D hub for Hong Kong-based property investment venture, will open its first salon space, GOLD, in March 2026 in Wong Chuk Hang. Tobias Berger, curatorial director of Serakai Studio, will lead GOLD's programming, transforming a former bank and jewellery shop into a multidisciplinary hub for art, fashion, music, design, and technology. The space will build on the discussions initiated by CONG, Serakai Studio's annual journal that explores cultural and urban ideas, to reimagine the historical salon as a space where people and new ideas converge. GOLD's inaugural exhibition, "Certainly," will explore creativity's unpredictability through works by artists from Hong Kong, Japan, Korea, the US,