

Okiya Guest House

オキヤ ゲストハウス

Originally built 100 years ago as a geisha house, this establishment consists of a tapas bar on the first floor and a second floor remodeled into a guest house. With three authentic Japanese-style rooms, plus a clean and modern shared space, the guest house preserves the feeling of geisha still living there. It's the perfect place to experience the good old days of Japan. The first floor, on the other hand, offers an exotic feel with authentic Mediterranean cuisine crafted by the Argentinian owner and chef, plus high-quality wine.
