Customers including small-medium sized businesses can now access these Canada Post services at nine Staples locations in Ontario. Additional participating stores will launch in the coming weeks.

“Small businesses need convenient, flexible solutions that help them serve their customers and manage their day-to-day operations efficiently,” said Ryan Mair, Chief Services Officer, Staples Canada. “By adding Canada Post to our existing suite of shipping services, we’re making it even easier for entrepreneurs and growing businesses to access the carrier and support they need, all in one place.”

With the addition of Canada Post Small Business Shipping Services, customers can access convenient solutions, including domestic and international shipping, pre-labelled parcel drop-off, and the purchase of flat-rate boxes, envelopes and postage stamps.

As a leading destination for shipping services, Staples already provides customers with convenient access to FedEx, Purolator, DHL and UPS.
