

SPARKLE MIX AND MATCH STORY CARDS

At our house, Sparkle Stories are often listened to in marathon sessions on days when my older kid finds herself couch bound for a period of time due to inclement weather or perhaps a case of the sniffles. When listening to all of the week's stories, one after another, it somehow becomes easy to start daydreaming just a bit about what might happen if the Sparkle cast of characters found themselves guest starring in one another's tales. So, I've made up a set of cards that will allow you to make that happen. Simply print the pages that follow, and cut out the individual cards to make a small deck. Then grab a handful of cards to use for a mix and match storytelling or picture drawing adventure where all of Sparkle-land comes together in one magical place!
