

Centrally Store, Manage, and Analyze Agreements with Help from AI

Agreements are the driving force behind your organization, but a lack of visibility into agreements and their contents can result in major consequences. For instance, disorganized agreement management can cause costly operational challenges, slow down the pace of business, increase risk, and limit the value of your strategic relationships.

DocuSign Navigator is a smart repository built specifically to tackle the complexities of agreement management. Beyond basic document storage, Navigator is powered by DocuSign AI to guide your team to the essential agreement information they need—increasing efficiency and streamlining the contract process.

No more lost agreements, hunting for specific terms, or uncertainty around which is the latest agreement with a client or vendor. Navigator centralizes agreements and provides greater access to the rich data they contain—helping you better understand your partners and make data-driven decisions.

Navigator is a foundational component of DocuSign's industry-leading agreement technology. As part of DocuSign IAM, Navigator helps your teams locate agreements with ease, surface key details and insights, as well as develop a clearer picture of your contractual relationships.
