How to: Launch an Antipodeans Placement at your University

1. Get started, how can we help you?

What kind of experience are you after? We'll meet you face-to-face to discuss our destinations and placement opportunities. Once we have a good idea of the type of experience you're looking for, Antipodeans will develop a placement proposal that suits your needs.

2. Proposal approved and Student Launch

Proposal looks good? Let's get this going. Antipodeans will work with you to prepare, promote and launch the Placement to the right students at the right time on campus to maximise participation. Our presentation will include all details of the placement, including information on fundraising and OSHELP Loan funding info.

3. Acceptance and Booking

And we're off. Your Operations Manager will work with you to finalise team names and numbers; then, let us take care of the rest. Antipodeans will manage the paperwork and financial administration directly with the students, relieving the burden from the university. Admin? We've got it covered.

4. Preparation and Training

Prior to departure, we work with the students and travelling university staff to ensure every detail is covered and all questions are answered. We run in-person preparation meetings and workshops at your university to ensure participants are briefed on all aspects of their overseas experience – including health, safety, cultural sensitivity, sustainability, responsible tourism and more. Our thorough approach to preparation means a smoother, more enjoyable experience for all involved.
