CULTURAL FESTIVALS

THE SURVIVAL OF THE FUNNEST

These are the festivals that made the grade, the parties that survived for centuries, and the events everyone wanted to attend and no one could forget! Celebrate history and experience the ultimate evolution of fun while you hurl tomatoes at mates, happily singalong while holding a stein, and drench your friends in red wine.

LA TOMATINA

TOMATO FIGHT

It's crazy! People go absolutely nuts, and everyone gets in on the action. The main street, where the truckloads full of tomatoes come down, is the centre of the action. It might sound overwhelming, but the atmosphere is incredible. Don't forget to squish your tomatoes first so they don't injure anyone!

PALO JABON

Before things get real squishy, Palo Jabon takes place. This tradition consists essentially of a large, greased up pole hoisted in the air with a Spanish Ham perched on top, which the brave (and silly!) will attempt to retrieve. The capture of the jamon marks the official start of the tomato fight.

LA TOMATINA AFTER PARTY

In the evening, we party! The official La Tomatina after party is sure to be a good time. After a little siesta to follow up the excitement of the fest, shuttle buses take you to the party. There's music, bars, food, and of course all the friends you made (or didn't make!) by pelting tomatoes at people all morning.
