Schedule C - PubNub Services Descriptions

These Service Descriptions provide details for specific PubNub Services and PubNub Software, and supplement and form part of the PubNub Terms of Service. Additional terms are described in the PubNub Pricing Page: <https://www.pubnub.com/pricing/transaction-classification> and Documentation: www.pubnub.com/docs/.

SERVICE DESCRIPTIONS

1. "Edge Transactions" shall mean API calls to the PubNub Services that do not result in replication to other PubNub data centers. Examples of these are Subscribe requests, reads from Storage or Mobile Push service API calls.
2. "Event Handlers" means a Function which consists of one or more functions written in JavaScript and which adheres to guidelines and limitations as provided in the PubNub Documentation, and which will be executed by the PubNub Services.
3. "Files" shall mean Customer-provided text or binary types of data (e.g. document, picture, image, audio or video file, data library, application, or other collection of data) that are initiated, submitted, uploaded or downloaded by Customer or its Authorized Users or end users, to the PubNub Services, whether in Message or by itself.
4. "Functions" shall mean either Customer Software deployed on the PubNub Services and runs within PubNub's operational environment, or PubNub Software that is hosted on the PubNub Integration Catalog located <https://www.pubnub.com/integrations/>.
5. "Functions Executions" are accrued whenever a Function is executed based on the configuration settings by the Customer within the PubNub Admin Portal.
6. "Messages" shall mean a message that is sent or received through the PubNub Services. For example, a Message sent by one PubNub client to another PubNub client is counted as two messages (one sender and one receiver). Messages are also generated by the use of PubNub Presence, Storage & Playback, and PubNub Real-Time Analytics services.
7. "Message Actions" are API calls to the PubNub Services that intend to associate data to past messages to support features like Delivery/Read Receipts, Reactions, etc.
8. "Monthly Active Users (MAU)" shall mean one universally unique identifier (UUID) that connects at least once to the PubNub Services in a calendar month period. A single user who connects to the PubNub Services multiple times in one calendar month will be counted as one MAU.
9. "Persisted Data" means data that is saved in the PubNub Data Stream Network and is measured as the peak of stored data for each calendar month.
10. "PubNub Integrations" means open-source code libraries. For purposes of the Agreement, integrations developed by PubNub and integrations hosted in the PubNub Integration Catalog are deemed PubNub Software.
11. "Replicated Transactions" are any of the following API calls to the PubNub Services to generate Access Tokens or which are otherwise replicated across data centers. Examples of these are Publish or Storage write requests that are set forth in the "Replicated Transactions" section at <https://www.pubnub.com/docs/transaction-classification>.
"Signals Transactions" is part of a high-volume stream of payloads (each up to 30 bytes) intended to inform or instruct an application, without including information that would be directly reflected in an application UI (such as rideshare driver lat/long measurements, a command to switch on a chat app typing indicator, an update from an IoT device, etc.).
12. "Transaction Plan Customer" shall mean a Customer who is on a PubNub Pricing Plan specified on the PubNub Pricing Page.
13. "Transactions" means the different transactions that are set forth at <https://www.pubnub.com/docs/transaction-classification>.
14. "Transaction Type" means the various API calls and related computing units that use the PubNub Services.

PubNub

15. “Transaction Unit” is a Transaction whose total size in network traffic does not exceed 2048 bytes. Transactions that exceed 2048 bytes are counted as multiple Transaction Units, calculated based on each 2048-byte unit. For example, a Transaction size of 2,900 bytes is counted as 2 (two) Transaction Units. A Transaction size of 4,300 bytes is counted as 3 (three) Transaction Units.
