Patricia Bridges Bowl

The trophy for the Women's Australian Open is the Patricia Bridges Bowl, named in honour of Australia's most revered women's golf official, who served three terms as president of the Australian Ladies Golf Union in an administrative career spanning four decades. Patricia Bridges OBE, now 91, was instrumental in the establishment of the Women's Australian Open in the 1970s.

She was appointed Chairman of the Women's Division – World Amateur Golf Council from 1994 to 2000. In 2006 she became the first life member of Golf Australia.
