

Smart Grid Test Bed Technology Validation and Testing

Demonstration Details

Demonstration: Commercial, Industrial, and Municipal Flexible Load and Resilience

Updated: 10/1/2025

As indicated under Schedule 13, the Company will maintain the following information about incentive amounts, participation requirements and procedures for the Smart Grid Test Bed on a dedicated page of the Portland General website:

Demonstration
Commercial & Industrial	Testing and validating grid impacts of flex load and resilience technologies for non-residential customers not already enrolled in Schedule 26.
Incentives
Incentive Amount	To be determined based on use-cases.
Participation Requirements
Customer Eligibility	Nonresidential Customers served under Schedules 32, 38, 47, 49, 75, 83, 85, 89, and 90
Eligible Area	In all territory serviced by the Company
Procedures
Application and Enrollment	Application and enrollment procedures for this demonstration, as available, can be found on the Company's website (www.portlandgeneral.com/SGTB).
Dispatch Parameters and Special Conditions	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. At any time, PGE can interact with customer-owned equipment with the intention to remotely adjust the device settings in accordance with the demonstration goals. 2. PGE has the right to remove a non-residential customer from the demonstration at any time, for any reason. 3. Incentives may be provided at PGE's discretion via an on-bill credit on the customer's next monthly billing statement, direct deposit, check issued to participants, or through payment to a qualified installer by PGE or PGE's authorized consultants. 4. PGE is not responsible for any direct, consequential, incidental, punitive, exemplary, or indirect damages to the participating customer or third parties that result from performing direct load control on a participating appliance.

	5. If the non-residential customer moves from the enrolled meter address during the term of the demonstration, they are no longer eligible for the demonstration.
Opt-outs	Customers may terminate participation under this demonstration voluntarily. If a customer unenrolls, the customer is not eligible to re-enroll during the demonstration period. Customers will not receive a participation incentive if they withdraw or are removed from the demonstration. The customer must notify PGE to withdraw from the demonstration.
Duration
End Date	December 31, 2028