

PGE awarded grant to accelerate and deploy grid edge computing

A $50 MILLION INVESTMENT FROM THE U.S. DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY WILL HELP PGE ADVANCE TECHNOLOGIES THAT ENABLE REAL-TIME MANAGEMENT OF THE ELECTRIC GRID

Investments in grid edge computing will help PGE maintain resilient grid operations during severe weather events and achieve progress toward our decarbonization targets. Grid edge technologies improve resilience, enable the integration of distributed energy resources, and maximize customer investments in home energy solutions.

FOR MORE INFORMATION VISIT

Grid Resilience and Innovation Partnerships (GRIP) Program Projects | Department of Energy