PROFILE

Michele is a passionate Web Developer who strives for perfection in his work. He has proven this trait and demonstrated his leadership qualities when leading a team of peer developers to deliver a consulting project to a customer. In addition to his wide skillset, Michele has a background in business and art. He aims to transfer the combination of his creativity and logical mindset to his future work.

RECENT PROJECTS

Alexander Jung's Professional Website

Gatsby.js, GraphQL, Contentful

A professional website for Alexander Jung, the Assistant Professor of Computer Science at Aalto University. Built with dynamic, editable content. Led the team of developers and heavily contributed at every stage of the development process.

Michele Zucca Art Website

Gatsby.js, GraphQL, Contentful

A personal art website featuring a multitude of galleries including digital and traditional art, photography, and a blog section. Structured as a personal portfolio with dynamic content managed through the Contentful CMS.

Crypto Lite

React

This project displays real data from cryptocurrencies API: it features market data, a cryptocurrency converter, a watchlist, crypto wallets and exchanges, and live news. This is a personal project to contribute and to support the crypto and blockchain community.

World Countries and Weather Data

React

This is an educational project that uses countries data and weather APIs with search and sorting functions. The user can sort and view different results for countries' data and search weather data by city, adding results into a watchlist.

Blog App

React

This is a CRUD app in which users can see posts sorted by most recent, add new posts, and edit and delete existing posts. This was a group project for educational purposes. Contributed to building the functionality, took the charge of CSS styling, and deploying to Netlify.
