RECENT PROJECTS

Nasdaq Stock Data Analysis

Node.js, Express.js, Lodash Library

This application was built to analyze the Nasdaq historical stock market data to ease the decision-making process for stock investment. The server side returns APIs that can be further visualized on the client side.

Management Kit

React.js, Express.js, Material-UI, MySQL

This is a Full-Stack Web Application built from scratch during employment. The application allows role-based login where users with admin rights can utilize the CRUD functionalities and store necessary information in the database whereas other users can see the information.

GitHub User Finder

React.js, Material-UI

With this application, users can search for GitHub profiles and check the profiles with up to five latest repositories. The users can also visit the original web pages on GitHub by calling the public GitHub API. This is a guided Project from Udemy with some added functionality that is done to improve my programming skills.
