

Julio Nemeth

Chief Product Supply Officer

Julio leads P&G's global product supply organization, which includes procurement, engineering, manufacturing, customer service, quality, distribution, and innovation program management. He oversees approximately 58,000 employees, 108 manufacturing plants, and 200 distribution centers around the globe—all focused on bringing irresistibly superior products to the world's consumers.

Julio joined P&G in 1990 as a site engineer for the Beauty business in Brazil. He quickly gathered experience in engineering, plant and business operations, and product supply. He has led and supported P&G businesses around the world, facilitated by his fluency in four languages. In 2015, Julio was elected President, Global Business Services. Outside of P&G, Julio recently joined the Board of Directors of The Boston Beer Company, Inc.

Julio blends his depth of experience with a warm, direct, and highly pragmatic approach and passionately sponsors P&G's People with Disabilities network.
