Jackson® Guitars –
Celebrating 25 years of tradition

Twenty-five years ago, the first Jackson USA guitar was built for a brilliant artist, the late Randy Rhoads. Since then, Jackson has set the standard by which all other rock guitars are judged. Often imitated, but never equaled, we continue that tradition today. Many of the employees from the original factory in La Puente, Calif., are still with us – including Production Manager Tim Wilson and Senior Master Builder Mike Shannon. Our staff and their commitment to the Jackson tradition has kept artists like Phil Collen of Def Leppard playing Jackson USA guitars for more than 25 years. To Phil and the rest of our loyal Jackson players, we thank you for your passion and support.

This year, we have redesigned Phil's popular PC1 signature model – once again setting the trend for others to follow!
