👤 PROFILE

I'm an infectiously passionate full stack developer with exceptional motivation and a high competence in communication and team building. After three years of Anthropological training in Kyoto and London, I changed my career path joining Subly where I'm currently working as a junior full stack developer. I love continuously improving my tech skills by pushing my boundaries enjoying solving problems by finding optimum solutions.

Before starting my career as a developer, I spent some years helping sustainable food production in Cambodia, Australia and Japan. I found my skills and knowledge are best used in 'engineering towards a better society' and improving web accessibility.

📁 EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

Junior full-stack engineer at Subly, London
