

The history and culture of food has been the object of wide-ranging methodological approaches: literary, cultural, economic, and material, to name just a few. The expanding interest that food has elicited in the past few decades confirms the importance of a field that is still very much in the making, while it continues to elicit contributions from all the major disciplines.

The series Food Culture and Food History (13th to 19th centuries) publishes monographs in the history and culture of food, and invites contributions from different disciplines, historiographic perspectives and methodological approaches. It is open to a long chronological period running from the Middle Ages to the early 19th century, in order to respect the distinctive time frames of food history. A similar criteria is adopted in determining the extensive geographic parameters of this series: as of the late 15th century, food and cuisine traveled with extreme ease, not only within the European continent but between other parts of the world. The purview of this series thus comprises Europe, the Atlantic world, and exchanges with Asia and the Middle East. To this end, the Food Culture and Food History series welcomes both scholarly monographs and edited/collective volumes in English, by both established and early-career researchers.

If you have a question or a publishing idea

Please contact commissioning editor Erika Gaffney (erika.gaffney@arc-humanities.org)

Series editor

Allen J. Grieco

Advisory board

Deborah Krohn, Bard Graduate Center, New York
Gregorio Saldarriaga, Universidad de Antioquia, Medellin, Colombia
Françoise Sabban, Ecole des Hautes Etudes en Sciences Sociales, Paris
Peter Scholliers, Vrije Universiteit, Brussels

Keywords

Food, History, Cultural Studies, Literature, Middle Ages, Early Modern, Atlantic History, Global History

Geographical Scope

Global but with a focus on Europe and the Atlantic World

Chronological Scope

Middle Ages to the early 19th century

Series website

<https://www.aup.nl/en/series/food-culture-food-history-13th-19th-centuries>

How to order our books

Our books and journals are available worldwide from www.aup.nl and from your local bookseller/institution.

PUBLISHING YOUR BOOK AT AUP:

- More than twenty years of experience in providing readers with high-quality scholarly publications.
- Full external peer-review of all academic titles and in-house copy-editing by experienced native speakers.
- An extremely efficient, thorough and rapid process from the delivery of the final manuscript to the publication date.
- Global sales and marketing through an extensive international network of distributors and dedicated representatives in all key markets. Important e-platform partners include JSTOR, De Gruyter, Ebrary, and EBSCO.
- Longstanding support in Open Access publishing.
- International scope of authors, book and series editors, and publishers, and an open and creative attitude in acquisitions, sales and marketing.