The International Institute for Asian Studies (IIAS) is a research and exchange platform based in Leiden, the Netherlands. Its objective is to encourage the interdisciplinary and comparative study of Asia and to promote (inter)national cooperation. IIAS focuses on the humanities and social sciences and on their interaction with other sciences. It stimulates scholarship on Asia and is instrumental in forging research networks among Asia Scholars. Its main research interests are reflected in the three book series published with Amsterdam University Press: Global Asia, Asian Heritages and Asian Cities. IIAS acts as an international mediator, bringing together various parties in Asia and other parts of the world. The Institute works as a clearinghouse of knowledge and information. This entails activities such as providing information services, the construction and support of international networks and cooperative projects, and the organization of seminars and conferences. In this way, IIAS functions as a window on Europe for non-European scholars and contributes to the cultural rapprochement between Europe and Asia.

IIAS Publications Officer: Mary Lynn van Dijk

Asian Cities

The Asian Cities Series explores urban cultures, societies and developments from the ancient to the contemporary city, from West Asia and the Near East to East Asia and the Pacific. The series focuses on three avenues of inquiry: evolving and competing ideas of the city across time and space; urban residents and their interactions in the production, shaping and contestation of the city; and urban challenges of the future as they relate to human well-being, the environment, heritage and public life.

The book Emerging Civic Urbanisms in Asia was first discussed at the international workshop Cities after Development that took place in February 2018 in Stephen Riady Centre at the National University of Singapore.

The workshop received support from the Ministry of Education of the Republic of Korea and the National Research Foundation of Korea (research grant NRF-2017S1A5A8021252). The Asia Research Institute (ARI) at the National University of Singapore and Seoul National University Asia Center (SNUAC) also supported the workshop. The editors wish to thank all workshop participants for sharing their ideas, and especially Mike Douglass for his time and invaluable suggestions for the book. Furthermore, the editors wish to thank Daniel Gan Rong Yao, Su Kim, and Han Bome Jun for their assistance with the workshop.

The book further benefited from the presentations and discussions at the Emerging Civic Urbanisms: Designing for Social Impact international conference, which took place in December 2018 at the National University of Singapore and brought together academics, practitioners, and students from Great Asian Streets Symposium, Pacific Rim Community Design Network, Design Corps, and SEED Network.

The editors are grateful to all the contributors to this volume. The project would not have been possible without their insights and generosity. Special thanks are extended to the two anonymous reviewers, Dr. Paul Rabé (Asian Cities Series Editor), Dr. Paul van der Velde (former Publications Officer), and Mary Lynn van Dijk (Publications Officer) at IIAS, as well as Dr. Irene van Rossum (Asian Studies Commissioning Editor), drs Jaap Wagenaar (former Production Editor), and Jasmijn Zondervan (Production Editor) at AUP. Graphic illustrations for this volume were made possible through the Johnston-Hastings Publication Endowment Award from the College of Built Environments at the University of Washington, Seattle.
