

Hagiography Beyond Tradition

The study of sanctity in medieval Europe is starting to elicit cutting-edge, innovative and genuinely interdisciplinary scholarship that destabilizes what people have conventionally considered to be hagiography. This is demonstrated in the topic range of panels sponsored by the Hagiography Society at recent landmark medievalist conferences. While hagiography has traditionally been understood only in religious terms, recent scholarship moves beyond such frameworks to consider alternate ways of identifying and representing exemplary people. So doing, such research emphasises modern cultural analogies and resonances with medieval figures.

It is not enough, however, to approach saints' lives with a "sexy" modern framework. The best scholarship is rooted in analytical rigour, close attention to context(s), and a keen awareness of the potential pitfalls of anachronism, all the while accepting that anachronism can often be productive. This series provides a home for the kind of work that negotiates that border between the traditional and the contemporary and encourages scholarship enhanced by interventions drawn from celebrity studies, trans studies, crip theory, animal and monster studies, the history of senses and the emotions, media studies, and beyond. Rather than considering hagiography as a single genre, the series is open to expanding the ways in which we imagine how people come to be offered for veneration, as well as the media and genres in which they are fashioned, represented, and celebrated.

Actively Seeking Proposals

The series welcomes scholarly monographs and edited volumes in English, by both established and early-career researchers.

Series Editor

Alicia Spencer-Hall, University College London

Editorial Board

Martha Newman, University of Texas Sarah Salih, King's College London Bill Burgwinkle, University of Cambridge

Untitled digital collage, by James Kerr (2017). Source works: "Repentant Mary Magdalene", by Giampietrino (Gian Pietro Rizzoli) (c. 1508-49); "The Magdalen Reading", by Rogier van der Weyden (c. 1435-38); "The Lamentation of Christ", by Simon Marmion (c. 1467). All work in the public domain, Wikicommons

SERIES SNAPSHOT

PUBLISHING YOUR BOOK AT AUP

- More than twenty years of experience in publishing high-quality scholarly publications in paper and e-format.
- Full external peer-review and in-house copyediting by native speakers.
- A highly qualified and professional team.
- An extremely efficient process from the delivery of the final manuscript to the publication date.
- Global sales and marketing through an extensive international network of distributors and representatives in all key markets.
- Longstanding supporter of open access publishing.
- Partnered with important e-platforms including JSTOR, GOBI, De Gruyter, Project Muse, Proquest, and EBSCO.
- International scope of authors, book and series editors, and commissioning editors.

HOW TO ORDER OUR BOOKS

Amsterdam University Press books are available worldwide from www.aup.nl and from your local bookseller.

Amsterdam University Press Nieuwe Prinsengracht 89 1018 VR Amsterdam T +31 (0)20 420 00 50 info@aup.nl marketing@aup.nl www.aup.nl facebook.com/AUPAcademic twitter.com/AmsterdamUPress