

Getting Ready for Your Ob/Gyn Ultrasound

Some ultrasound tests need you to have a full bladder. These tests may also require a urine pregnancy test.

You do not need a full bladder for:

- All OB ultrasounds
- Check of IUD placement
- Pelvic ultrasounds

You do need a full bladder for:

- Putting in or taking out IUD
- Ultrasound guided biopsy
- Sonohysterogram

If You Need a Full Bladder

1 hour before your test:

- Drink 16 ounces (2 cups) of fluids within 10 to 15 minutes.
- Do not go to the bathroom until after your test is done.
