Health Facts for You

Caring for Your Peritoneal Dialysis Catheter

This handout will tell you how to take care of your peritoneal dialysis (PD) catheter.

Bathing

The dressing on your abdomen should stay clean, dry, and firmly taped. Do not take showers or baths. Do not get the dressings wet until the Peritoneal Dialysis staff tells you it is okay.

Dressing Changes

The nurses in Peritoneal Dialysis will change the dressings when needed while you are in the hospital. After discharge, you need to go to the Outpatient Dialysis Clinic for dressing changes. If the dressings become loose, add more tape and gauze if needed.

Depending on when you start using the catheter for PD, the nurse will also run some fluids in and out of the catheter to make sure it works well. This will be done weekly until you are fully healed and you begin training for home dialysis, or until the catheter is used for dialysis (about 3-4 weeks).

Activity

- Do not lift more than 15 pounds for the first week. Then lift no more than 30 pounds for 2 months.
- Avoid straining while having a bowel movement.

When to Call

- Bloody dressings.
- Wet dressings.

Return to the PD Clinic

- Belly pain, either deep inside you or on the surface (If pain is normal for you, call if you have more pain or if the pain changes).
- Fever over 100.5°F or chills.
- Nausea and vomiting.

Who to Call
Peritoneal Dialysis Clinic
or	(after hours).

If you do not have a follow-up visit scheduled, call your local peritoneal dialysis unit.

Your health care team may have given you this information as part of your care. If so, please use it and call if you have any questions. If this information was not given to you as part of your care, please check with your doctor. This is not medical advice. This is not to be used for diagnosis or treatment of any medical condition. Because each person's health needs are different, you should talk with your doctor or others on your health care team when using this information. If you have an emergency, please call 911. Copyright © 10/2021. University of Wisconsin Hospitals and Clinics Authority. All rights reserved. Produced by the Department of Nursing. HF#5138