details. "I wasn't one of those girls who had her entire wedding vision nailed down to a tee prior to being engaged, so we figured out most of it along the way," she adds. "Our wedding was in Los Angeles and my mom lives in Michigan, so we had nightly Facetime meetings to keep on track."

After months of planning, the bride was excited to see how beautiful the ceremony and reception looked. Before the ceremony, she caught her first glimpse of the décor while walking down a staircase adorned with a lush floral garland – a special surprise from the florist and designer. What she saw, exceeded all expectations. "I thought I would be a little nervous, but I woke up with a lot of excitement and couldn't wait to walk down the aisle to marry my best friend," she says. "Everyone told us to take in and appreciate each moment, because the day goes by so quickly. That couldn't have been more true!"

After the ceremony, the newlyweds continued to be pleasantly surprised by how talented their team was – not to mention, astonished by their hard work. When the vendors were finished flipping the ceremony space for the reception, each table looked extra special with a gorgeous mix of modern floral arrangements.
