This can be a benefit, as diverse thinking styles can improve an organization's impact and ability to think creatively. Yet neurodivergent individuals (e.g., ADHD, autism, dyslexia) may experience challenges in their personal and professional lives that go unseen by their colleagues and friends.

Our benefits cover programs that can offer much-needed support. Iron Mountain's medical plans through Aetna and Kaiser cover Applied Behavioral Analysis (ABA) therapy for Mountaineers and their family members with neurodiverse needs. There is no limit on this benefit so long as the therapy is prescribed and administered by plan providers (and coinsurance, deductible, and/or copays may apply).
