It may be more affordable than you think.

Because your employer's plan offers group rates, this coverage may cost less than insurance you buy on your own.

You can change coverage to help meet your changing life. Getting married, buying a new home, or having children means you may need to review your needs from time to time. If you're earning more money than when you first enrolled for insurance, you may need to increase your coverage, so your loved ones have the resources they need.

It's an important way to help ensure the financial health of those who depend on you. Life insurance can help ensure that you leave the financial legacy you want. It can help take care of final arrangements that could burden spouses, children, and others.

Do I need to answer health questions?

If you enroll in life insurance coverage in excess of the guarantee issue amount $1,000,000, you'll need to complete our simple process by answering a few basic health questions known as proof of good health, or evidence of insurability (EOI). This process is easy and you can submit your proof of good health online.
