A sense of history

The building dates back to 1912 and celebrated its 100 year centenary in June 2012. It is Grade II listed and considered to be one of the finest period properties in Manchester.

It was purpose built in 1912 as the headquarters for the Calico Printers Association (CPA), an organisation founded in 1899 through the amalgamation of 46 textile printing companies and 13 merchants.

Upon completion, St James's was reported to have over 1,000 rooms and one mile of corridors. Under the management of the CPA, the entire 9th floor was given over to senior executive toilets.

St James's has a canal that runs underneath it and was at one point a famous theatre and music hall, home to the famous Tiller Girls and their infamous dance routines.

The longest standing customer at St James's is 'St James's Safety Deposit Co Ltd', who at 100 years of residency also celebrated their centenary in 2012.

The offices at the front of the building originally had coal fires. In 1949 and there were over a million phone calls from all over the world plugged into the switchboard on the top floor.

The Calico Printers Association original oak-panelled boardroom has been retained on the first floor of the building and is now available to hire as an on-site meeting room.

Make an impression at iconic St James's

St James's is an iconic Grade II listed building in a prominent location on Manchester's busy Oxford Street.

From the outside, this iconic period property stands as a monument to Manchester's industrial past. But on the inside, the future is being built today.

Dating back to 1912 and originally the headquarters of the Calico Printers Association, it is widely considered to be one of the finest period properties in the city, with a grand Portland stone frontage that is over 300 ft long and 166 ft high.

The office facilities have been comprehensively refurbished, providing high quality spaces with personality, as well as amenity.

As part of the innovation district, St James's fosters open collaboration, growing talent and offers mixed use of office and retail within the building.

This landmark building is a unique example of how Manchester's historical industrial past has been transformed into a vibrant, modern and forward thinking home for the next generation of the city's businesses.

St James's gives forward-thinking companies the space they need to succeed and grow. A space that you can really make your own. And the perfect home for those that like to think big.

Be an integral part of this thriving and vibrant community. Be connected to a network right on your doorstep.

Be part of something bigger.

Hatch

Ditto

St. James’s couldn’t be in a better place if it tried.

Located on the buzzing Oxford Street Corridor and bordering St Peter’s Square and the University district, your spoilt for choice when it comes toleisure and culture.

Bondobust

Head down to Bondobust for lunch, take a trip to Hatch, or go for a walk around the newly re-developed St Peter’s Square just around the corner. Amongst the libraries and art galleries, you’ll find your fair share of restaurants, bars, photographers and even the odd film crew!

The area is also abundant with transport connections, 3 close-by tram links, countless bus stops and two nearby train stations.

Plus, with bike storage, showers, towels, hair dryers and hair straighteners plus drying facilities on-site you’ll have all the tools at your disposal for active commuting.

In fact there’s a lot we can take from its history. Today, as when it was built, the customers within St James’s diversify the neighbourhood and fill it with skilled and creative individuals and businesses.

Stretching out south from St Peter’s Square in the city centre, the Oxford Road Corridor is Manchester’s innovation district and is a destination with a unique concentration of knowledge, business and cultural assets.

This area is at the heart of Manchester’s knowledge economy. With specialisms in life sciences and advanced materials, it is a recognised centre for science, R&D and the commercialisation of ideas and innovation.

Design & Fitout

If you choose us to complete your fit out, we'll create your space before you lease starts so you won't be paying rent on a space that's not ready.

We can offer you a blank canvas to make your mark and create a workspace that is uniquely yours. Armed with a vision and a collaborative approach.

You'll have the ability to build a unique space to your tastes and specifications, as well as the freedom to choose packages from our internet and telephone providers or bring in your own.

Our in-house design team can offer advice on office layout and even provide a hands-on managed fit-out service to give you the office you deserve.

Net Zero Carbon

Committing to a sustainable future

We take creating sustainable environments seriously as we know that we can only fulfil our purpose of ‘creating thriving cities’ if we can deliver sustainable and environmentally-conscious spaces.

We were the first commercial property partner to sign up to the Green Building Council’s Net Zero Carbon Commitment pledge, which aims for new buildings to be net zero carbon by 2030 and older buildings the same by 2050.

We are committed to leading the way with sustainability and we have a range of initiatives in place from waste disposal to using smart technology and using renewable energy to promoting sustainable transport, all with the aim of becoming a more sustainable business.

Our commitment to Net Zero Carbon is one of the reasons we’re championing sustainable practices, and it’s why we’ve created a specific set of science based targets to monitor our emissions.

The Carbon Trust helped us define these targets through a process that assessed global emissions, the emissions produced by the property sector, and how much of those emissions we are responsible for. Then, they can estimate how big that portion will be by 2050. By putting our targets in place, we can monitor and improve our output more efficiently.

We’ve introduced other measures in the fight against global heating, too:

Smart buildings strategy

We’re introducing algorithmic learning into our buildings. Sensors will gather data about heating, lighting and motion to help us use energy more efficiently.

Solar panelling

We already have solar panelling on many of our buildings, but we’re stepping up our commitment to solar power by installing batteries to store energy for later use.

Waste processes

Our partnership with B&M Waste is the first step in diverting 100% of our waste from landfill.

Water audits

Reducing water usage saves energy, helping to lower carbon emissions. That’s why our Utilities team has carried out water audits across the estate. So far, they’ve been able to save two Olympic sized swimming pools worth of water per month.

Riser adoption

We’re transforming the way we use electricity in our buildings, using specialist risers and voltage optimisation. These measures help us regulate, clean, and condition the incoming power supply, leading to lower energy usage.
