

Career Search and Skills Development 2019

The Programme

The Damilola Taylor Trust's Career Search and Skills Development Programme helps young people with little work experience acquire skills to help them make the transition to stable and satisfying employment.

It is free to attend and runs from September to December 2019.

Target audience

This programme is for young people aged 17-24 from socially disadvantaged backgrounds.

Objectives

The three-month CSSD programme uses innovative learning tools. Participants take part in professional development days and support each other to overcome challenges and barriers through Action Learning Sets.

Outcomes

By end of the programme, participants will have improved their skills in Communication, Job search, being interviewed (including presentation) and CV writing.

Individuals interested in Retail or Logistics will also have the opportunity to apply for a permanent role in the Co-op and, potentially, join the apprenticeship programme of the Co-op.
