

Winter at the Carlton Hotel 8 December 2023 to 24 March 2024

A new winter season at the Carlton Hotel means new magic, new ideas, and new ways of doing things. Year upon year, we embrace the winter as a chance to bring in the new; to create new experiences and special moments that surprise and linger in the mind. You are cordially invited to join us. This winter, make memories of snowy winters, of glistening white forests, of sliding over a frozen Lake St. Moritz – and of sparkling events and cultural experiences that are truly one of a kind.

We want the world's most glamorous winter resort to be your personal haven. We're proud to offer a holiday destination that's as rich and diverse as you are. Here at the Carlton Hotel, we bid you 'Allegra!' ('Welcome in!'): Welcome to winter in the mountains.

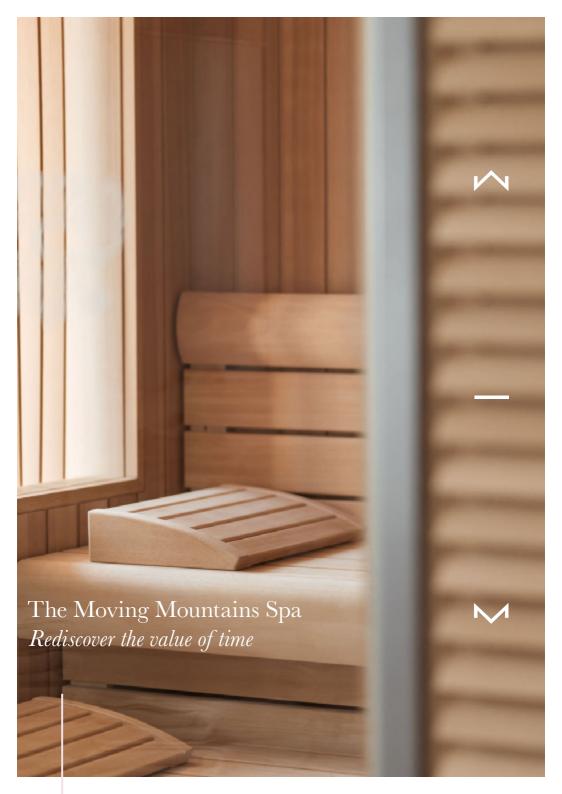

Stephanie and Michael Lehnort Hotel Directors

This time, it's the turn of our sixth and seventh floors to be unveiled in Restaurant Romanoff, too, where his team to devise an all-new menu cooked to great acclaim here at the Carlton Hotel and at our sister hotel Eden Roc in Ascona. The interior of the restaurant will be revamped to in-house designer Carlo Rampazzi. Much to be excited about!

New at the Carlton Hotel What's in store this winter

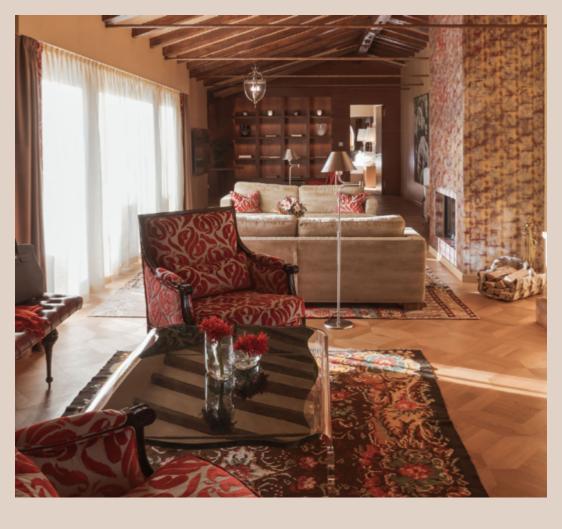

Wintertime is a time for rejuvenation – and there are few places better to do it than the Moving Mountains Spa. Here at the Carlton Hotel, our Moving Mountains philosophy focuses on restoring your vitality, immersing you in nature and celebrating the joy of life. Our spa follows the same concept of holistic wellbeing, promoting long-lasting physical and mental benefits through harmony of body, mind and soul. All treatments are scientifically founded and inspired by the Swiss mountains around us. In addition, all of our spa products contain 100% organic or certified natural ingredients, are vegan and free from animal testing, and have a reduced carbon footprint.

Treatments are preceded by an indepth consultation to devise your tailor-made wellbeing plan. This plan is designed to support you long after you leave the spa and, at your request, can include tips on diet, exercise and rest. Why not come and try it for yourself?

The Carlton Penthouse Suite Getaways in exceptional privacy

With some 386 m2 of space and a 360° panoramic view of the Engadin mountains, the Carlton Penthouse Suite is among the largest suites not only in St. Moritz, but the entire Swiss Alps. It's an incomparable place to relax in complete privacy without foregoing the comforts of a superior 5-star hotel. Like the suite itself, the five terraces that wrap around the penthouse offer spectacular views of Lake St. Moritz and the mountain panorama.

Fondue Gondolas

A highlight of the culinary calendar

Our fondue gondolas have become something of a Carlton Hotel institution – and no wonder. Who could resist the combination of Swiss wintertime and cheese fondue? Back this year by popular demand, our fondue gondolas can once again be found on the terrace serving cheese fondue and other Engadin specialities accompanied by breathtaking views over Lake St. Moritz. Each gondola accommodates two to four people.

The festive season is a special time of year: one of hope and joyful anticipation, but also reflection and nostalgia. At the Carlton Hotel, the festive time of year is a feeling: the unmistakable magic conjured up by snow-covered mountains and crackling open fires. Expect surprises – big, small and everything in between – to make your Christmas and New Year one to remember.

The 30th St. Moritz Gourmet Festival 29 January 2024 – 3 February 2024

An annual highlight of the January social calendar in St. Moritz, the Gourmet Festival – now entering its 30th edition – promises a tip-top start to 2024. As always, first-class guest chefs and local chefs will work together at the stove to deliver outof-this-world culinary experiences to guests and food lovers according to the yearly theme. In 2024, we'll mark the festival's 30th birthday by focusing on all things 'three' - including, you guessed it, the Michelin star ratings of our guest chefs. This means that all of the star chefs attending the 2024 festival have been awarded three stars by the esteemed Michelin guide. An unmissable event in a class of its own!

Moving Mountains Full Moon

Brand new

January Full Moon Ice skating

Thursday, 25 January 2024 Duration: Three hours

February Full Moon Horse riding

Saturday, 24 February 2024 Duration: Two hours

March Full Moon Ski and snowboard

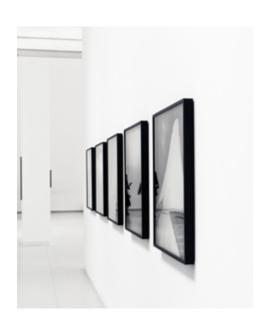

Saturday, 23 March 2024 Duration: Four hours The full moon has fascinated humans since time immemorial: among other things, it is claimed to influence health, sleep and even plant growth. Whatever its unsolved mysteries, we can be sure that this celestial event will arrive each month according to nature's rhythm — and here in the Engadin mountains, it's a thing of particular beauty. The crystal-clear air of winter makes it feel close enough to touch, while its reflection in the snow creates a fantastic mystical light.

Our Full Moon Specials were designed with these spellbinding qualities in mind. From January to March, Outdoor Butler Aleksandra will accompany you into the night for Moving Mountains experiences under the moonlight.

St. Moritz is not merely a place of artistic inspiration, but a hotspot of the international art scene. Did you know that it has the third-highest density of galleries in Switzerland? This rich offering means it more than holds its own against the big cities: just take gallery collection Hauser & Wirth, for example, whose new location in St. Moritz followed glitzy openings in New York and Hong Kong.

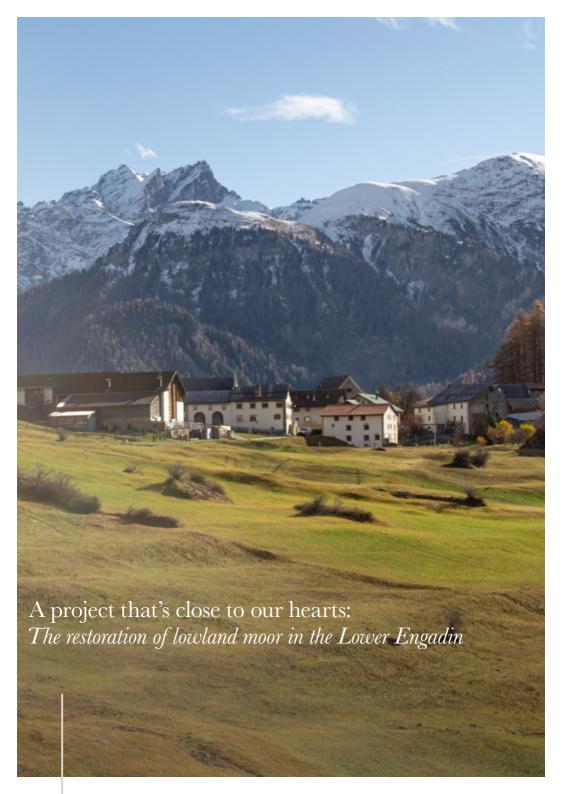

Once you've browsed the contemporary art in the galleries, head to the region's numerous museums to embark on a journey through the past. The Segantini Museum houses the world's most comprehensive and significant collection of Segantini's works, while the 21 exhibition rooms of the Museum Engiadinais replicate historical interiors from across five centuries. Prior to her death, Swiss artist Mili Weber transformed every part of her St. Moritz home into a lovingly crafted work of art to be enjoyed by visitors.

Why not use your next stay to take an artistic tour of discovery? Ask us for more tips on planning your itinerary.

The operations of the Tschuggen Collection, including the Carlton Hotel, have been completely climate-neutral since 2019. Now, our Green Globe certification – obtained for the first time in 2022 – proves we've gone one step further, marking us as one of the most sustainable premium hotel groups in Switzerland. But our aspirations don't stop there. Having already reduced our use of fossil fuels by 40% in the last 10 years, we're seeking to completely phase out their use by 2025.

Alongside this, we're dedicated to supporting local and national projects in the field of nature conservation. It is in this spirit of sustainability that the Tschuggen Collection celebrated its 100-year anniversary – with a ski race in aid of the natural world. Our Race for Nature, which took place in Arosa in March 2023, raised more than CHF 355,000 for various nature conservation organisations.

For greater awareness; for greater sustainability We are Green Globe certified Moorland is a natural phenomenon whose significance is vastly underestimated. Healthy, functioning moors have enormous carbon storage potential. Worldwide, moorland soils store 30 per cent of all soil carbon despite covering just three per cent of the total land area.

Despite these benefits, many areas of moorland have been drained in recent decades to allow them to be used for agriculture. Restoration of this moorland is an important tool in the fight against global warming. With this in mind, the Tschuggen Collection has collaborated with the Pro Terra Engiadina Foundation, our partner myclimate, and local farmers and landowners to launch a brand new nature conservation project: the restoration of the lowland moor near Bos-Cha in the Lower Engadin, not far from the Carlton Hotel. The project was conceived based on the following key considerations.

- Restored moorlands improve flood protection, water storage and water purification.
- Restored moors function as major carbon stores. 3,000 tonnes of CO₂ are expected to be stored annually (if the moors are maintained for 50 years).
- Healthy, functioning moorlands promote biodiversity. This project will involve the rewetting of some 3.7 hectares, providing a valuable habitat for rare animal and plant species.
