To all my singers,

Creating music with you this year has been an absolute joy! You have all demonstrated such heart in everything you've done and accomplished. And I admire your love for not only the music we've performed, but the love you have for your choir family. No matter what, I hope that you carry music with you in some capacity. As I've told you before, you don't have to grow up and be a choir director like me to keep music a part of your life. Find a place for it in your life though, because music is healing. Music is therapy. Music is love. I'm so proud of the growth each and every one of you have shown.

To my soon to be high schoolers,

I will forever be your cheerleader and in your corner. Whatever path you choose, I will be rooting for you every step of the way. And know you will always have a place here in our choir room.

To the parents,

Thank you for choosing to support your child in the arts. Thank you for being an advocate for music education. And thank you for sharing your child with me.

Have a wonderful summer!

With love, Mrs. Petru
