About SH:24

First off, thank you for considering a role with us!

SH:24 is a pioneering online sexual and reproductive health service, delivered in partnership with the NHS in the UK and the HSE in Ireland. We make it easy for people to self-manage their sexual and reproductive health online by providing free STI test kits, contraception & treatment, information and advice - 24 hours a day. We've won a host of awards and industry recognition for what we do, and we're happy to say that our reach and services offered are expanding every day.

Our vision is to make it easier and faster for people to access sexual and reproductive health services, no matter where they live; we've been doing it since 2014. Since 2022 we provide the national free home STI testing service in Ireland, in partnership with the HSE. In 2025 we partnered with Trinity College Dublin, the HSE sexual health programme and two public PrEP clinics to conduct a pilot study of providing PrEP care online with home testing in people established on PrEP. The purpose of this study is to inform policy on provision of online PrEP care in Ireland. The pilot phase ends in December 2026 and the hope is that the findings from this study will support implementation of an online PrEP service in Ireland in the future.

The Role

SH:24 are seeking a suitably qualified medical practitioner to join their team to provide online PrEP care to the study participants from July 2026 to end of June 2027, in line with NCHD changeover dates in Ireland, to enable those who wish to continue receive their PrEP care online.

- This role will include:
 - provision of participant care within the online platform; assessment of patient completed healthcare assessments, review of results, communication with patients, provision of prescriptions for HIV PrEP and doxyPEP where appropriate, referral back to their face to face service and liaison with face to face service where necessary.

The successful candidate will be part of a progressive, highly innovative team, benefiting from mentoring from senior clinicians in sexual health. The successful candidate will have the opportunity to attend and contribute to our daily clinical team meeting which is an essential element of our clinical governance structure.

What We Need From You

- You'll be an experienced and appropriately qualified medical practitioner with full registration with the Medical Council of Ireland and residing in Ireland.
- Demonstrable experience in the management of sexually transmitted infections and completion of the STI Foundation Theory Course (British Association of Sexual Health and HIV) or equivalent are desirable.
- Experience of online health service delivery is an advantage.
- You'll have an awareness of issues affecting young and vulnerable people and the ability to communicate comfortably and coherently with services users, particularly in matters relating to treatment, prevention, sexuality and personal relationships. You will be up to date on all HSE mandatory training.
- We're looking for someone who is willing to work collaboratively and contribute to the development of an evolving service, including contribution to clinical governance and innovation.
- You'll be trustworthy, discreet, and highly conscious of the importance of maintaining the confidentiality and integrity of personal information.
- You'll be IT literate and willing to learn how to use new systems, with an acute awareness of security issues and willing to comply with security requirements.
- You'll work within your scope of practice and area of competency, consistently following SH:24 guidelines and seeking assistance when you are unsure.
- Finally, and most importantly, you will love to learn, share knowledge and help others. The team at SH:24 is great because we provide the support to each other for everyone to perform well.

What You'll Get From us

We are always interested in upskilling our employees and are flexible in ways to do it: be it courses, books, onsite or remote learning with a colleague - whatever suits the situation best. If there is a particular skill or product you would like to work on and improve, we'll always try to accommodate you.

Equality and Diversity

As an employer, SH:24 is committed to inclusivity.

We want to increase representation of currently under-represented groups to make SH:24 more diverse.

Our aim is to build an inclusive team, where everyone is able to be themselves at work and feel supported, empowered, valued, respected, fairly treated and able to achieve their full potential.

As an inclusive employer we will not tolerate discrimination.

Interview Process

The SH:24 interview be held online with the clinical team from SH24 and the clinical lead from the HSE Sexual Health Programme.
