3 PROHIBITION OF INSIDER TRADING

3.1 Inside information

'Inside information' is information that:

- (a) is not generally available; and

- (b) if it were generally available, a reasonable person would expect it to have a material effect on the price or value of the Company's securities.

A reasonable person would be taken to expect information to have a material effect on the price or value of securities if (and only if) the information would, or would be likely to, influence persons who commonly acquire securities in deciding whether or not to acquire or dispose of those securities. In other words, information must be shown to be material to the investment decision of a reasonable hypothetical investor in the securities.

Information is 'generally available' if:

- (a) it consists of 'readily observable matter';
- (b) it has been made known in a manner that would, or would be likely to, bring to the attention of persons who commonly invest in securities of a kind whose price or value might be affected by the information and, since it was made known, a reasonable period for it to be disseminated among such persons has elapsed; or
- (c) it consists of deductions, conclusions or inferences made or drawn from information of the kind referred to in (a) or (b).

Restricted Persons may only assume information is generally available if it has been disclosed to the ASX.

3.2 Prohibited conduct

In summary, the Corporations Act prohibits:

- (a) the direct and indirect acquisition or disposal of securities using inside information;
- (b) the procurement of another person to acquire or dispose of securities using inside information; and
- (c) communication of inside information to another person for the purpose of the other person acquiring or disposing of securities.

Restricted Persons must not, whether in their own capacity or as an agent for another, apply for, acquire or dispose of, or enter into an agreement to apply for, acquire or dispose of, any securities, or procure another person to do so if the Restricted Person:

- (a) possesses inside information; and
- (b) knows or ought reasonably to know, that:
 - (i) the information is not generally available; and
 - (ii) if it were generally available, it might have a material effect on the price or value of the securities or influence a person's decision to buy or sell the securities.

Restricted Persons must not either directly or indirectly pass on this kind of information to another person if they know, or ought reasonably to know, that this other person is likely to apply for, acquire or dispose of the other securities or procure another person to do so.

3.3 Trading in securities of other companies

The Corporations Act's insider trading provisions apply to the securities of other companies and entities (including the Company's clients, suppliers or contractors) if the Restricted Person has inside information about that Company or entity. Restricted Persons must not trade in securities of another Company whilst in possession of inside information in respect of that Company.

3.4 Confidentiality obligations

Further to their legal obligations related to insider trading under the Corporations Act and any other applicable law, Restricted Persons must not disclose the Company's confidential information to any unauthorised third party, or use that information for personal gain or in a manner that may harm the Company.

4 COMPANY IMPOSED RESTRICTIONS ON TRADING

4.1 Trading may only occur during Trading Windows

All Trading in Securities by Employees must be in accordance with this Policy and generally will only be permitted during Trading Windows and must not occur during any Prohibited Trading Period.

No Trading in Securities may occur outside of Trading Windows without the prior written permission of the Chair (or an officer of the Company designated by the Chair), unless an exception in section 4.4 applies. Permission to sell (but not purchase) Securities will ordinarily only be granted in Exceptional Circumstances and only in the event that the person involved is not in possession of inside information affecting Securities. Requests for permission should generally be made through the Company Secretary.

4.2 When are the Trading Windows?

The Trading Windows during which Employees will be permitted to Trade Securities will be notified by the Company Secretary. These will generally be open except at the following times:

- (a) from the close of the ASX trading day on 31 December each year, until 10:00am AET on the ASX trading day following the day on which the Company's full year results are released to the ASX;
- (b) from the close of the ASX trading day on 30 June each year, until 10:00am AET on the ASX trading day following the day on which the Company's half year results are released to the ASX;
- (c) from the close of the ASX trading day on 31 March and 30 September each year until 10:00am AET on the ASX trading day following the day on which the Company's review of operations or Appendix 4C (whichever is first) is released to the ASX;
- (d) where there is in existence price sensitive information that has not been disclosed because of an ASX Listing Rule exception; and
- (e) any additional period arising from time to time that the Board imposes a prohibition on trading as an 'ad hoc' prohibition on trading of Securities.

Each a Prohibited Trading Period.

Notwithstanding the time periods described above, the Company may declare a Trading Window closed at any time at its absolute discretion and without prior notice. For example, this could occur where directors of the Company believe that certain Employees may hold inside information relating to the Company.

In relation to 4.2 (a) to (c), if 31 December, 31 March, 30 June or 30 September are not ASX trading days, then the Closed Period begins on the preceding ASX trading day

Trading Windows will not automatically be opened outside the times described above. Details of when a Trading Window is opened or closed and any Prohibited Trading Periods will be notified by email to Employees.

4.3 When is Trading during a Trading Window prohibited?

Even if the Trading Window is open, the laws prohibiting insider trading continue to apply to Employees so that they must not trade if they possess any inside information. Refer to section 2 of this Policy for further details.

Employees are prohibited from:

- (a) (short term trading) other than when an Employee exercises employee options or performance rights to acquire Securities at the specified exercise price, Trading in Securities (or an interest in Securities) on a short-term trading basis. Short-term trading includes buying and selling Securities within a 12 month period, and entering into other short-term dealings (e.g. forward contracts);
- (b) (hedging unvested awards) entering into transactions or arrangements, including by way of derivatives or similar financial products, which operate to limit the economic risk of an Employee's holdings of unvested Securities granted under an employee incentive plan; or
- (c) (short positions) Trading in Securities which enable an Employee to profit from or limit the economic risk of a decrease in the market price of Securities.

4.4 Exceptions for the Prohibited Trading Periods

The following exceptions to the Trading restrictions during Prohibited Trading Periods apply even if a Trading Window is not open (but subject always to insider trading laws):

- (a) an exercise (but not the sale of Securities following exercise) of an option or other right to acquire Securities under an employee incentive scheme or the conversion of a convertible security, where the final date for the exercise of the option or right, or the conversion of the security falls during a Prohibited Trading Period;
- (b) Trading under an offer or invitation made to all or most of the security holders such as a rights or entitlement issue, a security purchase plan, or an equal access buy-back, where the plan that determines the timing and structure of the offer has been approved by the Board. This includes decisions relating to whether or not to take up the entitlements and the sale of entitlements required to provide for the take up of the balance of entitlements under a renounceable pro rata issue;

- (c) Trading where the beneficial interest in the relevant Securities does not change. This includes:
 - (i) a dealing by which the relevant Securities are transferred by an Employee from their personal holdings to a superannuation fund of which they are a beneficiary;
 - (ii) the withdrawal of Securities from an employee incentive scheme and the transfer of those Securities to the participant's personal holdings or superannuation fund of which they are a beneficiary;
- (d) an acquisition of Securities under a dividend reinvestment plan, provided the election to participate in the dividend reinvestment plan was made before the Employee came into possession of any inside information;
- (e) an Employee accepting a takeover bid or transferring Securities under a scheme of arrangement in respect of the Company;
- (f) a disposal of Securities that is the result of a secured lender or financier exercising their rights. However, this does not extend to disposal under a margin lending arrangement where such arrangement is prohibited by this Policy;
- (g) an acquisition of Securities under a bonus issue made to all holders of the Company's Securities of the same class; and
- (h) an investment in, or trading in units of, a fund or some other scheme (other than a scheme only investing in the Securities of the Company) where the assets of the fund or other scheme are invested at the discretion of a third party.

Despite the above exceptions, under the insider trading laws, a person who possesses inside information may be prohibited from trading even where Trading falls within an exception specified above.

4.5 Escrow

Any Employee who holds Securities subject to binding restrictions on transfer (either as ASX restricted securities or through voluntary escrow arrangements) must comply with the terms of any applicable escrow arrangements and will be unable to trade in Securities during that time. Once the escrow arrangements have ended, the Employee is not free to Trade in their Securities unless permitted by this Policy

5 PRE-NOTIFICATION AND REPORTING OF TRADES

5.1 Who and when must give notification of an intention to Trade?

When permitted to Trade in accordance with this Policy, all Restricted Persons must give at least two trading days' (or such shorter period approved by the Chair) prior written notice of any proposed Trading in Securities and confirm that they do not possess any inside information, except as provided below, notice may be provided through Sezzle's third party service providers:

- (a) in the case of Senior Executives (other than the Chief Executive Officer and President), to the Chair and Company Secretary;
- (b) in the case of the Chief Executive Officer or President, to the Chair and Company Secretary (in circumstances where the Chair is an independent director) or otherwise to the Board and Company Secretary;
- (c) in the case of a Director of the Company, to the Chair and Company Secretary;
- (d) in the case of the Chair, the Board and Company Secretary;
- (e) in all other cases, to Company Secretary and either the General Counsel or Securities Counsel.

(each notified individual a 'Notification Officer').

If the relevant Notification Officer objects to the proposed Trade, they must immediately notify the relevant Director or Senior Executive that the Trade must not proceed, and must advise the Directors (who may overrule the decision if they think appropriate).

5.2 What Trading does not need to be pre-notified?

The only Trades that do not need to be pre-notified are those that are permitted under a specific exception in section 4.4 (Exceptions to the Prohibited Trading Periods).

5.3 Notification of Trades

In addition to providing prior notification under section 5.1, once a Trade of any Securities has been made by or for a Restricted Person, details of the Trade, including the number and price of Securities involved, must be notified by email to the Chair and Company Secretary.

So that the Company can comply with its ASX reporting obligations, without exception Directors must also give the Board prior written notice of any proposed trading in Company securities on behalf of:

- (a) their spouse or partner, dependent children or parents;
- (b) any body corporate which the director controls or is a director of; or
- (c) a trust in which the director is a trustee or beneficiary of.

Each disclosure notice will need to state whether the relevant trade occurred outside of a Trading Window and, if so, whether prior written clearance was provided.

The Company Secretary must maintain a register of notifications and clearances given in relation to trading in Company securities and must report all such matters to the Board as they arise.

5.4 Notification of an intention to trade on behalf of associates

Directors and Senior Executives must give prior written notice of any proposed Trading in Securities in accordance with section 5.3 on behalf of any of their associates.

For this purpose, "associates" of a Director or Senior Executive includes their spouses, family members, trusts, companies, nominees and other persons over whom a Director or Senior Executive has, or may be expected to have, investment control or influence.

6 EXCEPTIONAL CIRCUMSTANCES

The Company (through the Audit and Risk Committee) may grant Restricted Persons who are not in possession of inside information prior written clearance to trade in Company securities during a Prohibited Trading Period where, in the reasonable opinion of the Audit and Risk Committee:

- (a) the person is in severe financial hardship, where they have a pressing financial commitment that cannot be satisfied otherwise than by selling Company securities;
- (b) a court order, court enforceable undertaking or other legal or regulatory requirement obliges the person to transfer or sell, or accept a transfer of, the Company securities;
- (c) any other exceptional circumstances apply.

A request for permission to Trade due to Exceptional Circumstances should be made by written notice to the relevant Notification Officer outlining:

- (a) the name of the Employee;
- (b) details of the Exceptional Circumstances and the reasons for requesting permission to Trade;
- (c) the type of proposed transaction (purchase, sale, etc.); and
- (d) the number and type of Securities involved.

The Notification Officer will consult with the Chair (or where the Notification Officer is the Chair, with the Board) in the case of proposed Trading by the Chair) in relation to any proposed Trading due to Exceptional Circumstances. Permission to Trade is entirely discretionary, and Employees should not Trade in the expectation that permission will later be given.

If permission to Trade is granted, it will be given in writing and the Employee may only Trade the Securities during the period specified in the permission. A permission expires five business days from its date, unless it specifies a different date.

7 OTHER OBLIGATIONS

7.1 Short term trading

Restricted Persons must not trade in Securities on a short term basis. Generally, short term trading includes acquiring and disposing of securities within a 12 month period.

7.2 Hedging arrangements

Restricted Persons must not enter into arrangements or transactions which would have the effect of limiting the economic risk related to the Securities without first obtaining prior written clearance from the Audit and Risk Committee in accordance with this Policy.

7.3 Margin loans and similar funding arrangements

Directors of the Company and Senior Executives may not include their Securities in a margin loan portfolio or otherwise Trade in Securities pursuant to a margin lending arrangement (Margin Lending Arrangement) without first obtaining the consent of the Chair (or, in the case of the Chair, the Board). This is because the terms of the arrangement may require the Securities to be sold during a Prohibited Trading Period or when the relevant Director or Senior Executive possesses inside information.

A Margin Lending Arrangement would include:

- (a) entering into a margin lending arrangement in respect of Securities;
- (b) transferring Securities into an existing margin loan account; and Further, the Company will not tolerate any breach of Restricted Persons' legal obligations regarding insider trading. Restricted Persons who breach any applicable insider trading law or this Policy will likely face disciplinary action, including termination.
