

Emergency Church Appeal

Over 125,000 children in Britain will be homeless this Christmas

Will you help our church be there for children facing homelessness?

One child's Christmas story

When Connor found out that he and eight-year-old sister Jasmine would never return home again, he was distraught. Finding out you're homeless is never easy, but it's even worse when you're four. Then mum Danielle contacted Shelter. We managed to get the family into an emergency B&B, but it was barely fit for habitation. After months of fighting, we eventually helped them get a place of their own. Just in time for Christmas.

We were there to help Danielle, Jasmine and Connor.

Please help us make sure we can be there for others.

The difference we will make £250

could pay for two full day drop in sessions at our services hubs, giving families the resources to resolve their housing issues

£157

could pay for legal advice, enabling a family to understand and act on their housing rights

£100

could pay for ten helpline calls to be answered, helping ten households to find, keep or improve a home
