5. Competition Format

You can find the Trials Regulations on the UCI website in the following link

½ Finals

The trials world championships will commence with a ½ Finals round. The world championships ½ Finals round is open to all riders entered. The ½ Finals round shall consist of three laps of five sections. The commissaires' panel will set the competition time according to the number of entered riders.

Final round

The best six riders in the ½ Finals round will be eligible to compete in the Finals round. The scores gained in the ½ Finals round do not count in the Finals round.

Final procedure

At the Finals round it will be applied the six by six system:

Before the start, the six riders will be presented on the start podium, in inverse order to the position obtained in the ½ Finals round. After the presentation, they must go to section one.

The order to start will be determined by the result obtained in the ½ Finals round. Rider that obtained the sixth place shall start first in section one and so on. The same principle applies for the remaining sections.

Once a rider finishes a section, the next rider has maximum thirty seconds to start the section. After this thirty second the section time is running.

In case of tie, article 7.1.047 of the UCI Trials Regulations shall apply.

Competitors taking part in the Finals must have two bicycles at their disposal. The spare second bicycle shall remain in the rider's area for the duration of the competition and may be retrieved as a replacement for the first bicycle.

A trials national team competition shall be established in a dedicated section at the trials world championships

7.5.002 Entries

The rider's participation for the trials national team competition must be done by the team manager at the rider's confirmation.

The maximum number of riders in a trials national team competition is 5, one per category:

- 1 Men Juniors 20"

- 1 Women Elite

The minimum number of riders in a trials national team competition is 3. They must belong to different categories.

7.5.003 Starting procedure

The total number of UCI points a national team is obtained by adding the sum of each rider's individual UCI points. The total number of UCI points will determine the start order in the UCI Trials National Team competition. The national team with the lowest total UCI points will start first.

The start order of the riders in each national team is determined by each team manager.

The first rider to start the competition belongs to the national team with the lowest UCI points. The second rider is from the national team with the second lowest UCI points and so on. The same procedure applies for the remaining riders.

Riders ride the sections one by one and only once.

7.5.004 Section description

The section, which must be split in five sectors, has to be designed/built according to the UCI trials section building guide. Each sector is composed by different obstacles marked with four different levels (gates).

The length of a section must be between 30 to 50 m and it must be lineal or in a U-shape.

The five sectors of each section must be clearly defined by a cross-wise tape on the ground in order to identify each part.

Each sector must contain the four different levels (gates) indicated with coloured arrows. Riders will get a different score depending on the level (gate) they choose to ride.

Points scored with each level (gate)

- White gate: 10 points
- Blue gate: 20 points
- Red gate: 30 points
- Yellow gate: 40 points

7.5.006 Results

The points scored by each rider count as points for his national team’s overall score.

19. General Information

About Vic

Vic (Catalan pronunciation: [bik]) is the capital of the comarca of Osona (Catalan pronunciation: [uzonə]), in the province of Barcelona, Catalonia, Spain. With a population of 48.000 people and a surface of 30.92 km² the city is at 485 m above sea level.

Lying halfway between the sea and the Pyrenees, and just 70 kilometres from Barcelona, the city of Vic is the main demographic, administrative and services centre of a geographical area whose influence extends beyond the boundaries of the county of Osona.

Vic's long history, present in the streets and squares of the historical centre, coexists in harmony with recent urban developments, which in addition to its busy fairs and markets, the consolidation of the University of Vic and the growth of its industrial estates, reflect the dynamism of a cosmopolitan city.

It is a city rich in contrasts, a meeting point between tradition and modernity, between the legacy of the rural world and modern urban infrastructures, between the peace and quiet of a small city and fun, festive events.

Vic's great wealth of heritage, clear to see in the quality of its museums, archives and historical buildings, as well as in the large number of associations devoted to all sorts of fields, is the expression of a city brimming with civic, cultural and artistic activity. The city's economic structure is based on the retail, industrial and services sectors.

The array of shops in Vic is a strong attraction thanks to their high degree of specialisation. The industrial sector is characterised by its diversity, the most prominent sectors being agri-food, leather and metal. As regards services, the city boasts a wide range of administrative, healthcare, educational and social infrastructures and services.

As an episcopal see and capital of the county of Osona, Vic plays an active and important part in Catalonia's network of cities. New transport routes and the improvement of existing ones have placed the city in a fantastic position to meet the demands of a modern society while preserving its essence and special character.

Transportation

Vic enjoys an outstanding location in Central Catalonia and on the Plain which shares its name. The city of Vic lies between the Pyrenees and metropolitan region of Barcelona in the north-south direction, and between the coastal and inland counties of Catalonia in the east-west direction.

A series roadworks have been completed in recent years making access to the city faster and more convenient. Vic is just 69 km from Barcelona (55 min.), 60 km from Girona (50 min.), 164 km from Lleida (120 min.) and 156 km from Tarragona.

We highly recommend to reduce the risks of infection to the minimum. Depending on the specific situations, eventual positive tests might place the competition at risk of being cancelled.
