

Knowing what to expect and having a plan when filing a property or automobile insurance claim can relieve some of the uncertainty. To help you navigate this process, we've created a helpful checklist of the general information that should be reported in the event of a claim. Having this information ready at the time of filing will help save time and assist with the claims process.

If a loss occurs, insureds should contact their insurance Broker to report a claim. In the event that their Broker is unavailable, insureds can call Echelon's 24-hour Emergency Claims Reporting Service. Click here or visit Echelon's website for more information on our Emergency Claims Reporting Service. Questions related to the progress of a claim can be answered by Echelon's Claims team. With support from Brokers, Echelon's skilled Claims specialists are committed to getting our policyholders back to normal as efficiently as possible.

A comprehensive review of an insured's coverage should be completed annually or with changes to the insured's circumstances to ensure they understand what they are covered for, and that the coverage outlined in their policy continues to meet their evolving needs.
