SAP Education | SAP Learning Hub, Business Edition

Help Users Rapidly Adopt New Technology for a Faster Return on Investment

Encourage rapid adoption through effective user enablement

Rapid adoption of new technology can help streamline business processes, boost productivity and user satisfaction, reduce costs, and drive a faster return on your investment. Effective user education is key to such rapid adoption. Today's users learn best when training is relevant to their roles, available when they need it, and based on social learning and collaboration.

Encourage rapid adoption through effective user enablement

To get the most from SAP® software and earn a quick ROI, end users must know how to best use the software for specific tasks. SAP Learning Hub is a cloud-based, on-demand platform that helps users develop knowledge in key innovation areas and keep their skills up-to-date.

The business edition of SAP Learning Hub provides robust support in a managed public or private cloud. This advanced learning management solution offers a central training portal for hosting content and pushing it to business users.

In addition to high-quality core content on demand, it provides:

- More than 3,000 simulations of SAP application procedures and transactions in multiple languages
- Robust tools for tracking users' progress toward learning goals
- Access to SAP expert-led SAP Learning Rooms, for social learning and exchange, including live sessions

Gain state-of-the-art access to learning, content, and services

The business edition of SAP Learning Hub helps users in all stages of the software lifecycle and is helpful for any company size, from small and midsize to large enterprises.

It provides access to SAP Learning Rooms, where SAP software experts are available to coach users, answer questions, host live sessions, post videos, provide quizzes, and write blogs. SAP Learning

Rooms also include learning maps that help you to stay on – or even discover – the right path toward obtaining the knowledge you need through topic-specific courses and handbooks.

SAP Learning Hub, business edition, is available in public and private cloud versions. The private cloud version, which supports content and appearance customization, is an option for 100 users or more.

Gain state-of-the-art access to learning, content, and services

Gain additional versatility in the private cloud

Combine SAP content with your own in the private cloud

SAP Learning Rooms maximize the educational experience for users.

Gain additional versatility in the private cloud

An option for 100 or more subscribers, the private cloud version of SAP Learning Hub, business edition, provides additional features. You can:

- Quickly implement the hub's comprehensive learning experience, content, and service platform and build role-specific learning paths for groups of users
- Assign paths, set deadlines for their completion, and generate reports on users' progress
- Readily create your own content to share with end users

The private cloud version also provides intuitive, self-service reporting tools to help you evaluate learning initiatives. You can choose from many preconfigured reports or create your own.

In addition, the private cloud version lets you build private online learning rooms to share knowledge throughout your organization and help ensure seamless transitions between project phases. Your private learning rooms can provide both structured and unstructured opportunities for social learning and collaboration. Choose from multiple templates, based on learning-room best practices, to create a training environment that meets your needs.

To facilitate learning even more, you can combine your own content with standard content from SAP.

Combine SAP content with your own in the private cloud

With the private cloud version of SAP Learning Hub, business edition, you can combine your own content with standard content from SAP. This enables you to design a clear path to standard learning content for users and dramatically reduce the time they need to take full advantage of your software.

The large volume of standard learning content, available in multiple languages, includes navigation and overview courses, end-user process and transaction courses, and simulations of standard transactions within SAP solutions.

You can also make use of content production services – offered as additional, separate services. You can use the services to create and modify enablement content or e-learning courses, for example. If you are a private edition subscriber, you can include this content, as well as your own learning content to the portal, and distribute it to end users.
