

NEWS

Artemis II comes to a close today — has it changed your opinion of space exploration?

Earthset captured through the Orion spacecraft window at 6:41 p.m. EDT, April 6, 2026, during the Artemis II crew's flyby of the Moon.

(NASA/NASA via Getty Images / Getty Images North America)

This story is free to read because readers choose to support LAist. If you find value in independent local reporting, make a donation to power our newsroom today.

What's your favorite videogame soundtrack?

A good video game soundtrack needs to somehow straddle the line of being memorable, but not front-of-mind. Say you're stuck on a particularly hard boss — you may end up hearing the same song on loop for hours. It needs to strike the right tone, while also not absorbing too much of the player's attention. Today on AirTalk, we want to hear from you! What's your favorite video game soundtrack? What makes it stand out, even when it's playing in the background? What's your take on the evolution of video game music from the chiptune days of old to full orchestral arrangements? Give us a call at 866-893-5722 or you can email us at atcomments@laist.com. Joining Austin this morning for the professional take is Jennifer Miller Hammel, Classical California Host and Arcade Stream Host with the Classical California radio station out of the University of Southern California.